1924 APPROPRIATIONS MAIN SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION IN CITY HALL CIRCLES

MAYOR ISSUES WARNING NO FIGURES READY YET

Padded Estimates Will Be Dealt Severe Blow, He Tells Department Heads

A warning against "padding" estimates in connection with 1924 appropriations is included in a letter today placed in the hands of departmental heads by Mayor John J. Donovan. The mayor also makes suggestion that he is not sure but what it will be possible to operate the city this year on a general budget lower than in 1923 and asks for co-operation to make this possible. "Any estimate submitted that indicates high figures in anticipation of a cut will be dealt a severe blow," the

Budget Commission Will Hold Hearings on All Requests for Wage Advances

No estimates for 1924 appropriations have yet reached the office of City Auditor Daniel E. Martin for presentation to the budget and audit commission and none is expected until Wednesday at the earliest. It also is probable that several of the larger departments will not have figures ready for presentation even at that time. "Take the school department, for instance, no definite estimates will be ready for presentation until the school committee has taken action upon them."

BOK CALLED TO STAND

Examination of Donor of $100,000 Award by Senate Investigating Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Edward W. Bok, donor of the $100,000 award for the best world peace plan, was called today before a senate committee, charged with investigating propaganda designed to influence the action of congress and the government's foreign policy.

The purpose of the committee is to determine whether there is any relation between the Bok award and organizations having for their purpose American adherence to the League of Nations. Examination of Mr. Bok is in the hands of Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, author of the resolution of inquiry and of the senate "irreconcilables" on the League of Nations.

A cross-questioning of Mr. Bok is expected to continue through tomorrow. After he leaves the stand, Miss Esther Everett Lane, head of the policy committee of the Bok award, will be called.

GRASS FIRE INCLUDED IN TODAY'S ALARMS

The fire department was kept on the jump this morning with several calls to small fires, caused by heating troubles.

A telephone call at 1:51 this morning was sent in for a chimney fire at the residence of Paul Butler, in 323 Andover street. No damage.

At 11:15 a second telephone call was received for a fire caused by an overheated smoke pipe at 101 Warren street, without any damage.

Box 324 rang in at 11:38 for a grass fire on Carmine street in the Wigginsville section, which caused some little trouble, but was prevented from endangering the houses nearby.

ORDERS WORK STOPPED ON SEVERAL HOUSES

Work on the construction of eight or nine dwelling houses in various parts of the city has been ordered stopped by Building Inspector Francis A. Connor, pending completion of plans to conform with the building laws.

A tour of inspection recently made showed Inspector Connor that in the construction of these houses the full intent of the laws has not been complied with, either in relation to fireproofing or other details.

GOVERNMENT ECONOMY

Federal Executives From Pres. Coolidge Down Meet to Lay Plans for Future

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Federal executives from President Coolidge to the least important bureau chiefs, met late today in the sixth session of "The business organization of the government" to review affairs of the government since the meeting last June and to lay plans for the future.

President Coolidge, who with Director Lord of the budget bureau, will speak, will address the meeting for the first time as chief executive. The last meeting of officials received a message from President Harding two days before his departure on his fatal westward trip. Mr. Coolidge, however, has repeatedly said there could be no deviation from the Harding economy policies in government and indications were given that the head of the nation again would stress the need for curbing federal expenditures as a means of relieving taxpayers.

LOWELL FLOODED WITH ANTHRACITE COAL

On January 1, 1924, there was on hand in Lowell more anthracite coal than in any other city in the state except metropolitan Boston, Worcester and Springfield. Local dealers on that date, according to figures quoted today to Mayor John J. Donovan in a memorandum from Eugene C. Hultman, emergency fuel administrator for Massachusetts, had in their yards 18,570 tons of hard coal.

Boston may be properly excluded from the list, for it is the coal centre of a large district. On the same date Springfield had 24,075 tons on hand and Worcester, 19,102 tons. All other cities and towns in the state where there are four or more dealers had less anthracite coal—and in most cases much less—than Lowell. The neighboring city of Lawrence had only 775 tons.

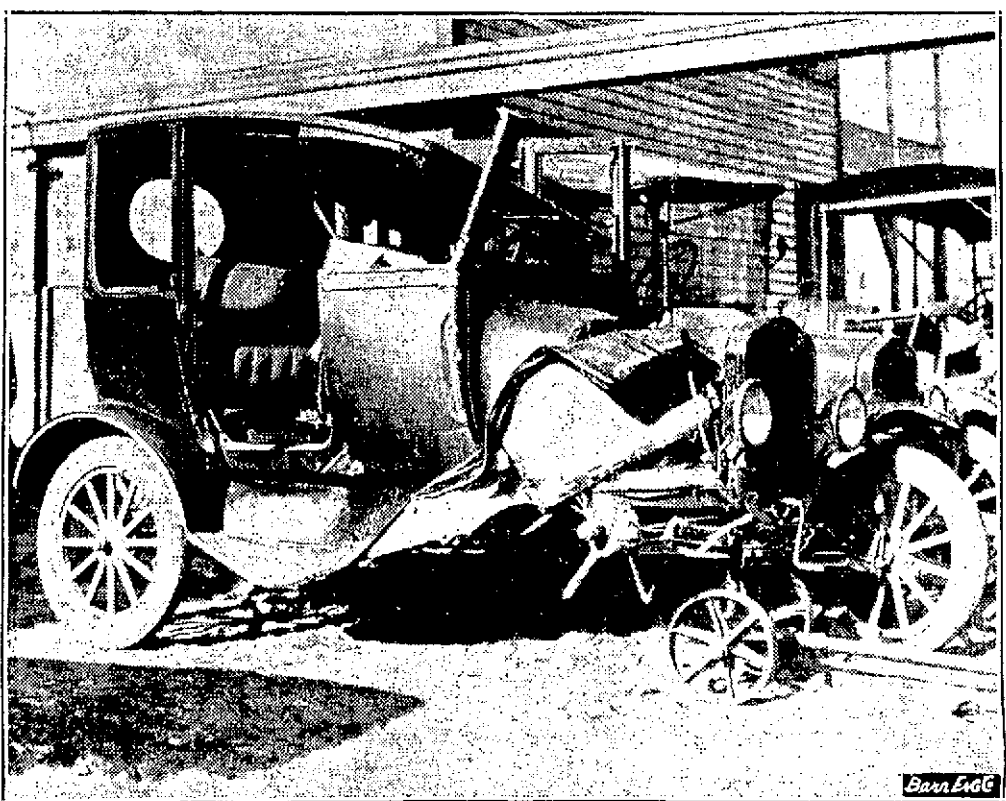

During the coal year of 1921 and 1922, Lowell dealers delivered 110,104 tons of anthracite and from April 1, 1923 to December 31, put out 88,265 tons.

According to Administrator Hultman's memorandum, the combined retail coal dealers of Massachusetts had 500,000 tons of anthracite on hand the first of the year and since that time the movement of coal into the state has been normal.

Reductions in price that have gone into effect in a number of cities reflect improved mine conditions, says Mr. Hultman, as well as favorable weather conditions for trucking and deliveries.

He suggests a conference of local dealers if the mayor feels retail prices here are unreasonably high.

Lowell Man Seriously Injured in Auto Crash in Billerica Centre Early This Forenoon

HOW AUTO LOOKED AFTER THE CRASH

Traveling at high speed through Billerica Centre and bound for Woburn, a Ford sedan car, owned and driven by John A. Mendes, 33 years old, of 62 Chippewa street, Lowell, crashed head-on into a loaded lumber truck driven by Philip G. Bryson of Bedford, at the corner of Lowell and Bedford streets, at 9:45 o'clock this morning.

Mendes was seriously injured and is now at St. John's hospital, where physicians are to X-ray his wounds, fearing a possible fracture of the skull.

His left eye and forehead were badly lacerated by flying glass.

Both machines were badly damaged, but Bryson, driver of the lumber truck, escaped injury. The Ford sedan was completely wrecked, all the forward part of the machine being crushed and top, sides and bottom of the car splintered.

The collision was a spectacular one, the crash causing a report that sounded like the explosion of a small bomb. Residents of the town hurried from their homes on either side of the highway to render assistance.

WIDOW HELD FOR MURDER OF DEPUTY

RUTLAND, Vt., Jan. 1.—Holding in her mind perhaps the only evidence in the killing of her husband, Deputy Sheriff Allen A. Leonard, found shot to death in his home in Wallingford, last Saturday, Mrs. Carrie Smith Leonard, charged with the murder, was still unconscious in a hospital here today. Attorney General Frank E. Archibald awaited her recovery and the permission of hospital authorities to question her.

In the stupor which has held her since her telephone call for a doctor Saturday morning, Mrs. Leonard has uttered only incoherent mutterings, and rumors and surmises are presumably all that the officials have to guide them to a solution of the mystery.

Roy Leonard, a son of the dead deputy by a former marriage, has rejected the theory of suicide as untenable. The revolver found near Leonard's body is believed by State Attorney Novak to have belonged to his wife.

They found the Ford sedan overturned in the middle of the roadway, with pieces of wreckage scattered around for a distance of 50 feet.

Broken glass from the windshields of both machines was strewn over the highway. The top of the sedan was jammed down closely against the debris caused by the crushing of the radiator, doors and side frames, and the owner and driver of the car could not be seen.

Just as Driver Bryson reached the wrecked Ford, he saw Mendes raise his arms through the wreckage and pull away pieces of glass and broken seat frames. Mendes was soon able to extricate himself. He crawled through the opening and dropped in the street.

The Ford owner was bleeding fast from his facial injuries and was very much dazed. He was assisted to the office of Dr. M. A. Buck, who administered first aid treatment and then summoned the ambulance.

LOWELL HAS MANY LADY BOOTLEGGERS

"There are so many lady bootleggers now that they are almost as bad as the men," said Judge Furlight in district court this morning when Josie Sarachek was arraigned on a continued charge of illegal keeping. "The district court judges are to meet in Boston Thursday," he continued, "and one of the most important matters to be discussed by them will be the matter of giving direct jail sentences on first offenses of this kind, and I hope they do decide to do this." He then granted Josie another continuance.

THE COLDEST SNAP OF THE WINTER

Breezing out of the far northwest early today, the coldest snap of the winter blipped into town this morning, sending mercury glasses down to as low as 7 above zero.

The lowest reading was obtained at Lakes and Canals official glass. In surrounding towns the glasses showed readings ranging from 19 in Chelmsford Centre to 14 above in Deduct and 11 in Pelham, N. H.

A genuine cold wave had been predicted and it arrived on time. The predictions for tomorrow are "cold wave and fair." Wednesday will probably be fair with slowly rising temperatures.

Ice formed quickly in some of the canals this morning, some of it floating over the protection screens near mill gate supply entrances, but there were no machinery blockades reported.

was on his way to Lowell, coming from Bedford with a heavy load of box boards for a Middlesex street lumber concern. He was moving slowly when the collision occurred and was just entering the Lowell-Woburn highway, when he saw Mendes coming from Lowell and travelling at high speed directly toward him. He says he could not avert a collision and told Chief of Police Livingston that Mendes apparently expected him to give the Lowell car the right of way. Chief Livingston said he was told that Mendes was travelling at a very high rate of speed.

Mendes is married. He told the Billerica authorities that he was bound for Woburn to attend a funeral. He was travelling alone and had a box of cut flowers in the sedan.

The truck was a Walker-Johnson and is owned by Herbert L. Clark of Davis road, Bedford. The radiator was torn away and one of the front steps damaged. The cab windows were also shattered.

Mr. Coburn of Lowell appeared before the county commissioners in their regular meeting at the Gorham street courthouse this morning for the purpose of opposing the application of the Massachusetts cities locally to for permission to maintain a railroad spur over Jackson street to their property, the Eastern States Cold Storage Warehouse, Atty. Clarence J. Lamb appeared for the petitioners.

Mr. Coburn told the commissioners he appeared on behalf of the Fletcher estate. Mr. Coburn maintained that in a deed dated 1761, afterwards indorsed by an indenture of congress, the late Joseph Fletcher granted perpetual and unrestricted rights of entrance and egress through the property involved, then a part of his estate of over 70 acres.

Mr. Coburn claims that the granting of the petition would be an infringement upon his rights. He said he owns no property in the locality now, nor does the Fletcher estate. Nevertheless, he opposes the petition. He made a similar stand when the petition was heard in Boston before the department of public utilities.

Mr. Lamb, for the petitioners, said permission was received from the city council over a month ago. He stated that a track has been on the property for nearly sixteen years, having been laid in 1908 under a permit granted William S. Currie.

Inasmuch as the grant was to Mr. Currie and could not be transferred with the title to the property, it was necessary that a new application for permission to maintain this spur be made, he said. No trouble was anticipated, title having been searched at the time his clients purchased the property and having been found clear insofar as available records go.

It is vital to his clients that the use of this spur be permitted them, he said, as in the warehouse business at least three cars are used daily at the plant. The commissioners reserved decision.

TWO CAPTAINS AND FIVE HOSEMEN DIE IN PITTSBURGH FIRE

Ladder Collapsed, Hurling Fire-fighters to Death in Tank of Oil at Plant of Atlantic Refining Co.—Many Others Injured

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—Seven men were drowned in oil, two captains and five hosemen of the Pittsburgh fire department, while fighting a fire at the Butler street plant of the Atlantic Refining Co. today. The bodies were recovered after the fire had been brought under control, with the monetary loss unestimated.

The dead are:
Captain Edward Jones,
Captain Rudolph Hilske,
Hoseman Patrick Abbott,
Hoseman Robert Smith,
Hoseman John Markham,
Hoseman Samuel Bollinger,
Hoseman Harry J. Frazier.

A number of firemen also were injured.

The fire broke out in a tank containing 10,000 gallons of oil, soon after 5 o'clock. Seven companies answered the alarm and fire lines were thrown out for four or five city blocks on each side of the refinery, which adjoins a residential district and has been the scene of a number of costly blazes.

Many families deserted their homes and additional fire apparatus was summoned as the morning wore on.

Shortly before 5 o'clock the captains and their men were on a ladder which extended above the top of a tank adjoining the burning oil. The oil in this tank was being drawn off when the ladder broke and the men fell into the tank. A chemical extinguisher, automatically released by the heat of the burning oil nearby, the authorities said, covered the oil and fumes arising from it, which were believed to have overcome the struggling firemen. They sank almost at once and the bodies later were recovered through the manhole at the bottom of the tank.

The other firemen suffered severely because the mercury was two degrees below zero. All of the injured were firemen who fell from the top of the tank to which they had climbed.

The cause of the fire had not been determined by officers of the company nor would they venture an estimate of the loss, which consisted of two buildings and a considerable quantity of oil.

REBEL BLOCKADE POSTPONED AS U. S. WARSHIP ARRIVES

Admiral Magruder Reports to Navy Department That Rebel Blockade Off Tampico Has Been "Postponed" Until End of Present Month

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The rebel blockade of the port of Tampico has been "postponed" until the end of the present month, Rear Admiral Magruder reported to the navy department today on his arrival off that port aboard his flagship, the cruiser Richmond.

In announcing receipt of this message the state department said that Admiral Magruder had not indicated the source of his information. His message served, however, to relieve tension in Washington in connection with the Tampico situation.

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Jan. 21.—(By the Associated Press) The United States naval tug Bay Spring, has taken refuge in Vera Cruz harbor from the "worst hurricane in years," according to a message received here today by wireless from the Mexican port.

The radio message broadcasted from Vera Cruz was signed Martin Hernandez and said the de la Huerta government gave permission for the Bay Spring to enter the harbor after the vessel had wireless she was in danger of foundering.

The wireless has been forwarded to Washington.

BREAK IN MIDDLESEX STREET

The plant of the Economy Rug works on Middlesex street was broken into last Saturday evening, entrance being made through a window in the rear and several valuable rugs were stolen. The police investigated the break and from clues found there believe an arrest will be made within a few days.

Asked why no previous contention had been raised, Mr. Coburn said that "probably" it was not known at the time that the Fletcher deed provided as he says it does.

REBELS WANT $400,000

Demand Payment From Petroleum Co. Under Threat to Destroy Property

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Mexican Petroleum Co., of $400,000 to Adolfo de la Huerta, leader of the Mexican revolutionary faction, to prevent him from carrying out a threat to destroy the company's property at Tampico, hinges upon capture of the Mexican port by the revolutionary faction, according to R. G. Wylie, vice president of the company.

Mr. Wylie declared that the threat to seize the property unless an advance in export oil taxes was paid to the revolutionists was received about ten days ago.

Representatives of the company who had taken up the demand with the state department in Washington, he said, had been advised to present the demand by complying with the demand in the event that de la Huerta gained control of the port.

Mr. Wylie made it clear that no payment would be made unless the revolutionists actually seized the property and indicated their intention to carry out their threat.

BRITISH RAIL STRIKE BEGINS

Locomotive Engineers and Firemen Quit at Midnight

—Efforts at Mediation Fail

Strike Call Obeyed by Great

Majority of 59,000 Members of Unions

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—A statement issued early this morning at the headquarters of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen which last night called a strike on the railways of Great Britain, said the men were coming out solidly and standing together splendidly. Press telegrams arriving through the small hours of the day suggested that this assertion was likely to prove not far from the truth.

Some reports told of union members who were willing to continue work. Apparently some traffic was moved after midnight, but in the main it seemed the strike call would be obeyed by a great majority of the organization's 59,000 members.

Attention by the railroad companies to run trains on restricted schedules are being watched anxiously by the public. The success of a limited service depends in the first instance on the loyalty of those locomotive men who belong to the National Union of Railwaymen, among whose 320,000 members, it is said, are about 25 or 26 thousand engineers. Neither this union nor the railway clerks' organization are supporting the strike.

If the locomotive men belonging to the national union obey the instructions of John H. Thomas and other leaders to ignore the strike, some districts of England, Scotland, Wales, will not face altogether badly. However, there were signs today that many engineers and firemen in the national union of railwaymen would co-operate with their striking fellows in the other organization.

The companies this morning continued to profess their ability to meet the needs of the traveling public in a considerable degree and said the strike must be of short duration. However, J. L. Bromley, secretary of the Associated Society of Firemen and Engineers, expressed the conviction that the strike could hold up 80 per cent of the traffic of the country in a fortnight, which time he said would be long enough to prevent the companies from making profits, the avowed purpose of his union. The organization leaders have asserted that the railways will lose more in two weeks than they can make in five years.

The London newspapers roundly condemn the strike with the exception of the Laborite Daily Herald which, although not supporting the movement, seeks to defend the strikers against the accusation of having been guilty of a breach of faith.

TO PASS LABOR'S NO CONFIDENCE MOTION

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The passage of labor's no confidence motion in the house of commons tonight will mean the disappearance of what political observers predict will prove to be the last purely conservative government of Great Britain, ushering in a new era in British politics.

Among the chief speakers at today's final debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne are Prime Minister Baldwin, David Lloyd George and Ramsay MacDonald. Some of the political gossipers say that the premier means to handle the situation "with gloves off."

The division has been fixed for 11 o'clock this evening. The vote will take about 15 minutes and so the result should be known not later than 11:20 p. m.

The very restricted accommodations for the public in the house of commons will be packed for the applications for admission to the galleries have been greatly in excess of the available space.

The latest estimates placed the majority hostile to the government at about 60 or 70 votes, with very few liberals supporting Mr. Baldwin or abstaining from balloting.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS HOLDS BIG MEETING

Lowell officials of the Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, joined hands with state officials in a monster meeting in Amesbury yesterday, held for the purpose of arousing interest in the fourth degree exemplification to be held in the Lowell Memorial Auditorium on May 4 next.

It was an overflow meeting, necessitating the removal from the spacious R. O. C. home to the banquet hall in the town. This, too, was crowded to the doors.

The principal speaker was Louis Watson, fourth degree master of the R. O. C. in this province. He spoke enthusiastically of the Bishop Delany assembly of Lowell and the interest it has aroused in Massachusetts over the forthcoming meeting. Mr. Watson also gave some interesting statistics and praised the Lowell Memorial Auditorium as a splendid place for the function.

State Treasurer Thomas J. McGrath of Newburyport and one of the "big leaders" on the speakers' staff, was in good form. He spoke eloquently of the achievements of Amesbury council, saying it was to his mind not unlike the remarkable progress of Lowell council, and hoped that the state of deeds of the fourth degree would receive their co-operation. He dwelt on the splendid success with which State Deputy Front has met. Mr. McGrath's speech was one of the best of the day and he was given a fine hand.

Mayor Michael J. Cashman of Newburyport, a fourth degree Knight and a man of substantial business connections in that vicinity, was another of the speakers, and said that Lowell was, in his opinion, a most progressive city. He is hopeful, he said, of an event of eminent success here on May 4.

Charles J. Landers of Lowell, past district deputy, signed the proposed affidavit as outstanding K. of C. representative anywhere in the east. John V. Donohue, faithful navigator of Bishop Delany assembly, brought the greetings of his assembly. He emphasized the widespread interest all over Massachusetts and said he was looking for a great showing from Essex county.

Councilor James P. Hennessy and Chief Edward P. Saunders, also spoke. Meetings are now being arranged in Lawrence, Boston, Lynn, and other places.

The Lowell men and state officers were entertained at dinner at the Garrison Inn at 6 o'clock. Grand Knight John F. Ryan of Amesbury was in charge.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—A senate foreign relations sub-committee today began an investigation today to determine whether it should recommend recognition of the Russian soviet government.

State department officials were the first to be examined, having been invited by Chairman Borah, author of the resolution proposing a senate declaration in favor of recognition of the Russian government to explain the administration's policy of non-recognition.

The committee later will examine officials of the department of justice, who have furnished the state department the evidence upon which Secretary Hughes has based his conclusions that the soviet government is responsible for revolutionary propaganda in the United States.

THE MANUFACTURE OF COAL GAS

Coal gas is made by heating bituminous coal about eight hours in externally heated, air tight, fire clay retorts. Gas is driven off, and a residue called "gas house coke" is left in each retort; this is withdrawn and a charge of fresh coal added.

From the retorts the gas passes into the hydraulic main, from which it is withdrawn by the exhaustor and pushed to the condenser. In the condenser the gas is cooled by water surrounding tubes through which the gas passes. This condenses the tar and oil carried in the gas to a liquid which flows out at the bottom through water sealed pipes into the storage tank. From the condenser the gas goes to the scrubber, which consists of a cylindrical tower containing a number of wooden trays having slots running crosswise in checkerboard fashion and where a water spray at the top of the tower keeps the slots wet and washes the impurities down over the wet surfaces, where the gas gives up its ammonia to the water. This ammonia solution is removed at the bottom through a water sealed drain and delivered to an ammonia storage tank.

After passing through the purifier, the gas goes through the station meter, which measures the volume, and then to the storage holder. It is then distributed through the mains to the customer.

Total Represents an Increase of 56 Deaths Over Record of 1922

Registrar Goodwin Says Fatalities Represent One Death for Each 999 Cars

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Jan. 21.—Five hundred and seventy-eight persons were killed in this state last year in accidents in which motor vehicles were involved, this representing an increase of 56 deaths over the record of 1922.

While last year's number is the largest ever, with the single exception of the record of 582, established in 1919, Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles, points out in a statement today that in respect to the number of cars on the highway it is the best record ever made in this state. It represents one death for each 999 cars registered.

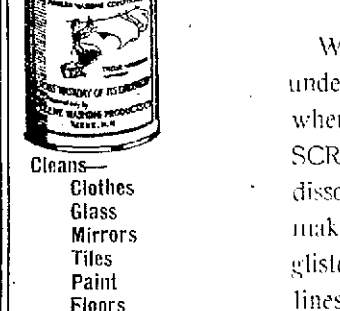

Following the appalling record of 1919, when there were 582 deaths with only 569,881 cars registered, the registration of motor vehicles, then recently established by the legislature, placed in charge of Mr. Goodwin, began a safety campaign, the chief feature of which was the revocation of the license of every person convicted or suspected of operating while under the influence of liquor, coupled with a drive against glaring headlights.

That this campaign has proven increasingly successful is shown by the fact that the percentage of accidents to cars registered has steadily declined, although the natural expectation would be that it would increase, due to more crowding of the roads.

In 1919, there were 448 cars registered for each death. In 1920 this ratio was increased to 654; in 1921 to 824; in 1922 to 884; and in 1923 it reached the amazing figure of 999.

Another interesting feature of Mr. Goodwin's review of the activities of his department in the past year is that approximately 20 per cent of the persons examined, in connection with their applications for licenses to drive, were rejected. In figures, the year's record shows 12,421 persons examined, of whom 2,483 failed to pass the required tests and were accordingly not permitted to have licenses.

WETS CALL ON COOLIDGE

Face-the-Facts Conference at Washington—Volstead Act Denounced

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Pleading on the basis of the anti-saloon league's meeting in this, and on its ties in spirit, the "face-the-facts" conference sponsored by the association against the prohibition amendment got under way here today, with speakers hurling verbal volleys at the Volstead act and the league. The delegates also had an engagement with President Coolidge at noon, similar to the call made by the anti-saloon league convention.

"Double enforcement of the 18th amendment by the state and federal courts constitutes 'intolerable persecution' and has been so characterized by judges on the bench," declared Austin C. Fox, president of the Moderation League of New York. "The legislature of the state of New York saw it and in 1923 removed the cause by repealing its enforcement act."

"The anti-saloon league's determination is not merely to enforce the Volstead law," Mr. Fox asserted, "but to deny every great principle that stands in the way of tyrannical procedure, and tyrannical procedure begets revolt. Which shall it be, amendment or revolt?" he asked, declaring: "We stand for prompt amendment."

Representative Hills, republican, Maryland, has been named chairman of the association's banquet tonight, at which Senators Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, and Bayard, Democrat, Delaware, are listed among the speakers.

AMERICAN LEGION POST MEETING

Lowell post, 87, American Legion, will open the 1924 season this evening with the first business meeting to be held under the new officers. Commander MacDonald will make a point this evening of disposing of the routine business as quickly as possible, and also to dispose of several routine problems that have arisen since the last meeting.

The officers of the post wish all members who have tickets left from the armistice ball to return them tonight, or as soon as possible, to Dr. C. R. Livingston, 258 Merrimack street, in order that a final report may be made by the committee in charge of the affair.

Dues are now payable and checks may be sent to Joseph M. Dinnon at his office in 206 Bradley building.

ST. MARGARET'S RECTORY IN STEVENS STREET, WHICH WILL BE REPLACED BY NEW HOME NEXT FALL.

of interest to the parishioners of St. Margaret's church in connection with the annual report of the pastor, Rev. Charles J. Galligan, which was read at all the masses yesterday, is the announcement that a new parish rectory will be built in Stevens street during the coming year. The pastor said this morning that no definite plans for the erection of the new home had been arranged as yet, but he expressed the hope that construction work would start early next fall. Practically the same location on which the present rectory in Stevens street stands, will be used for the proposed new home only it will be removed farther back from the street front.

The movement for a more commodious parish house in St. Margaret's marks another advance in the beautifying of Catholic church property in the Highlands. A few months ago, the church was completely renovated and is today, exteriorly and interiorly, one of the finest of the smaller church edifices in the city.

The present needs of the parish and the remarkable progress made in the past few years is given as the reason for the building of a new home for the priests. The rectory now used was purchased when the church was built and is deemed inadequate to meet the growing demands of the parish. It was formerly a private residence, and although improvements have been made from time to time, it still proved inadequate.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR JOHN M. FARRELL

The funeral of John M. Farrell, well known auctioneer, who died last Thursday, took place this morning from his late home, 2 West View street, the cortege proceeding to St. Margaret's church, where at 10 o'clock a solemn funeral mass was celebrated by Rev. Andrew J. O'Brien, assisted by Rev. William P. Brennan, deacon, and Rev. Charles J. Galligan, pastor, sub-deacon. Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, chaplain of Lowell council, K. of C., of which deceased was a prominent member, was seated in the sanctuary.

The church was filled with sorrowing relatives and friends. Representing the Bishop Delany assembly, Fourth Degree, K. of C., was a delegation composed of James J. McManmon, Thomas J. Beane, Hugh C. McOsker and Albert E. O'Brien, while Lowell Council, 72, was represented by Frank Mallory, Daniel Owens, Thomas McCarthy and Walter Poullet.

As a testimonial of the high esteem in which deceased was held in the civic and fraternal life of the community, there were present in the congregation Chief Edward F. Saunders of the fire department, Henry L. Bourke, Charles E. McIntyre, Arthur J. Cummings, P. Keese, William P. McCarthy, James J. Coffey, Frank J. Danahy, Walter Bagshaw, William P. Thornton, James P. Walker, Thomas F. Golden and Hugh J. Molloy.

The ushers at the house and church were James B. Farrell and William Barrett, while the bearers were William E. Henry J. and Frank A. Farrell, brothers of deceased, Dr. Frank R. Brady, Dr. Joseph A. Mehan and Patrick H. Ryan.

During the mass appropriate music was rendered by the choir under the direction of Louis Gailbault, who presided at the organ. The solos were sustained by Miss Kathleen Jennings and Mr. Cornelius J. Caiman.

Gen. James G. Harbord, deputy chief of staff of the United States army, will be the speaker in the Parker course at the Auditorium on Thursday evening of this week. His subject will be "The Penalties of Pacifism" and his appearance just at this time is most interesting through his connections with the Box peace plan award, of which committee he was a member. Since the year 1919 when Gen. Harbord joined the army as a private he has been in the thick of all military operations in which the country has been engaged and has taken part in the service has been rapid for a man who did not graduate from West Point. He was graduated from the Infantry and Cavalry school in 1895, at that time being a second lieutenant in the 5th Cavalry. He is a clear and forceful speaker and his message will be well worth hearing.

Annual Tea and Entertainment Held Yesterday—Enjoyable Musical Program

Mrs. Mary D. Chambers, B. S., Talks on Cultivating Taste for Good Literature

The annual tea and entertainment of the Notre Dame Alumnae was held yesterday afternoon in the convent-auditorium in Adams street, and was attended by one of the largest gatherings present at the annual event in many years.

Miss Gertrude Regan, Miss Elizabeth Conway and Miss Angela Cribben gave an enjoyable musical program consisting of trio numbers on the cello, violin and piano.

Mrs. Mary D. Chambers, B. S. of Boston, author and well known leader in literary circles spoke to the members on "Cultivating the Taste for the Best in Literature." Mrs. Chambers, who is a most entertaining speaker, and the possessor of a most pleasing personality, kept the interest of her audience to the highest pitch throughout her talk, which although rather brief, was on a topic of interest to all who had gathered to hear her.

Subscriptions for the Trinity Altar fund, the total amount of $1250 which is to be in by March 15, 1924, were started yesterday afternoon and the members generously and willingly contributed to a worthy cause.

Tea and refreshments were served in the spacious library, which had been prettily arranged by the reception committee under the direction of Miss Margie Warren. Mrs. Charles Holmes was chairman of the hospitality committee, while Mrs. Walter J. Bagshaw and Miss Margaret McChesney were the hostesses of the afternoon.

The afternoon was brought to a close with benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament in the convent officiating, Miss Ellen F. Lynch, soloist rendered Millard's "Ave Maria."

The ushers in the academy and the chapel were members of the class of '23 while the waitresses during the tea were members of the class of '24.

"STOLEN" BABY DIES, MILLERS CLAIM BODY

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 21.—The nameless baby boy, taken away from his mother in a local hospital by Mrs. Peach Miller of Southbridge and found after a six months' hunt, causing criminal charges to be brought against the Southbridge woman, died last night of a swelling of a gland in the throat.

Mrs. Miller, looking for a child, came to this city, secured the baby and returned to her home, telling her husband that the baby was the survivor of twins born to her.

Birth registration followed. The father did not know the child was not his own until last week, when authorities discovered where the baby was located.

Mrs. Miller last night declared that she will claim the body for burial in her family lot.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICE AT LOCAL CHURCH

Mrs. Victoria Demarest, evangelist granddaughter of Gen. William Booth of Salvation Army fame and a native of France, preached an inspiring sermon on "Vision" at Central Baptist church before a large congregation last evening. The theme of her sermon dwelt mainly upon the need of the people of all the world today returning to the teachings of the Christ.

Agnes Demarest, husband of the evangelist, a musician of note and for many years a concert organist, sang solos. During the Demarest evangelistic campaign to be continued at Central Baptist church for the next three weeks, Mr. Demarest will direct the music.

The evangelist will give three lectures at the Memorial Auditorium besides filling her engagements at the Baptist church. The lecture subjects will be: "The Virgin Mary," "Love and Marriage" and "Motherhood and the Training of Children." These lectures will be for women and are strictly non-denominational.

Mrs. Demarest, in her first appeal to the people of Lowell in opening her evangelistic campaign, declared that civilization, education, war and secret societies have filled our horizon and blotted out our vision of Christ. They all miss the mark, the speaker declared, and do not answer man's supreme need, as well as the Bible often fail as substitutes to satisfy. Their mission is not to replace Christ, but to lead us to reality. It is not necessary to walk with one's prayer book, with godly people, with form and ceremony or with creeds. It is necessary to walk with God in life and in death.

WILL BANQUET GRAND EXALTED RULER

Elks of New England, under the auspices of the Massachusetts State Elks association, will tender a reception and dinner to the grand exalted ruler, James G. McFarland of Watertown, S.D., Lodge No. 535, on Monday evening, February 15, at the Coppley Plaza, Boston.

James E. Donnelly, esteemed leading knight of Lowell lodge, No. 57, has charge of reservations for this section. In his announcement, President Joseph F. Francis, Jr., P.E.R., of New Bedford lodge, says dancing commencing at 9:30 o'clock, after the dinner, will continue until 12.

REV. PERCY E. THOMAS TALKS ON "MOODS"

"Moods" was the topic of the sermon delivered at the Sunday evening service in the First Congregational church by Rev. Percy E. Thomas, with the text of the sermon taken from the 19th chapter of Kings, dealing with the moods of Elijah when he became dismayed at the happenings of his Christian life and went into the wilderness. Preceding the sermon, there was an organ recital by Miss Ella Gale, music by the regular church choir and three hymns by the Walter Quartet of Boston.

Mr. Thomas declared that while everyone is subject to being seized by fits of despondency, the trouble with the majority of people is that they do not try the faith which brought about the period of despair after it has once gone. When we see anyone under the spell of a mood we should do our best to help him, and in that way make life more bearable for him. The three great causes of fits of despair and moods are: first, mental condition, second, physical condition and third, lack of religious training, failing to understand God and His efforts to guide us along the path of righteousness.

"We must watch our health and our religious life and do our utmost to live the life that Jesus Christ meant for us, and with that as our objective we shall have fewer moods and live a much better and more peaceful life."

MEMBERS FOR LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE

A class of 75 new members was inducted into Lowell lodge, 615, Loyal Order of Moose, at its quarters in Odd Fellows hall yesterday afternoon. Past Dictator Edward St. Leger was in charge of the degree work and was assisted by members of the local lodge. District Supervisor Arthur W. Haydn of Boston and Deputy Supreme Dictator William W. Watson of Lynn, were guests of honor and both gave interesting talks on the order and the value of holding memberships therein.

An entertainment program was given under the direction of Frank J. Lambert, lodge pianist, by the following: Honey Boy quartet, Howard H. Heane and Arthur H. Hammond, harmonica selections; A. P. Tanguay, Joe Wadsworth, Thomas A. Green, Clyde McKillip and George Mission, recitations.

MISS CORINNE AND MR. BROWN HONORED

Many remembrances from friends made during their stay here were received by Miss Hazel Corinne and Victor Brown at the Lowell opera house last Saturday night, when they closed their engagement with the stock company here. Miss Corinne received a quantity of floral tributes, requiring four helpers to carry them down the aisle for the presentation over the acts at the close of the third act.

The popular little actress left Sunday for Winnipeg, where she will start rehearsals Thursday, opening as leading lady there one week from tonight. Mr. Brown left Sunday for a motor trip to New York and Bridgeport. Miss Mary Ray, known to many here as Mrs. Karlheide Kesting, accompanied Miss Corinne.

BROADWAY CLUB MEETING

The Broadway Social and Athletic association held an open meeting yesterday afternoon in its quarters in Fletcher street, with President William A. Walsh presiding. There was a large attendance. It was voted to meet again next Sunday at which time a number of important matters will come before the members.

CHILDREN TAKEN FROM BURNING BUILDING

Due mainly to the prompt action of Dr. A. V. Isherwood, who assisted in the rescue work, two infant children were saved from fire which Saturday night destroyed the camp known as "Havercast," owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dolphus Desrosiers, at Belle Grove, Dracut.

The parents were in Lowell and the children were cared for by the family of Stephen Delany, a neighbor. Some furniture was saved but the cottage was completely destroyed.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS
The four local lodges of the Knights of Pythias are making tentative plans for the joint observance next month of the 60th anniversary of the foundation of the order. Samuel H. Hines, lodge has selected Daniel Starkey as its representative on the committee while Chevalier-Middlesex lodge has delegated John A. Lamberton, Elmer D. Robinson and Herbert Philip. Lowell and Waverly lodges will probably act on the matter this week. Members of Chevalier-Middlesex lodge will turn out in force for the annual installation of officers next Friday night to be conducted by Deputy Grand Chancellor E. E. Hould and suite of Lawrence.

ERADICATION OF TUBERCULOSIS

Commissioner Says 110,000 School Children Should Be Examined

High Percentage of Juvenile Cases Can Be Cured if Adequately Treated

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Jan. 21.—Declaring that there are in the public schools of Massachusetts approximately 110,000 children who need to be examined and supervised as to their physical condition, lest they become future victims of tuberculosis, and that of this number probably 9000 are children in whom the presence of the dread disease has not even been suspected, Dr. Eugene R. Kelley, state commissioner of public health, today outlined the plans of his department for combating the situation.

So well has the fight against tuberculosis in adults progressed that the department feels justified, according to Dr. Kelley, in devoting its chief activities during the next ten years to eradication of the disease among children. The program calls for an aggregate expenditure of half a million dollars, of which it is desired to expend $100,000 this year.

The figures given by Dr. Kelley in his estimates are based on data obtained from a careful survey of school children in the city of Westfield, where, at the instance of Dr. Henry T. Chadwick, superintendent of the state sanatorium located there, an examination was made of a group of school children falling markedly below the average standards of weight and height, together with a group of children known to have been directly exposed to pulmonary tuberculosis in their homes. The results were astonishing; that further studies were made in 82 other communities, by the field force of physicians and nurses connected with the state department, and by the staffs of other state institutions.

As a result of this thorough survey, the department is convinced that fully 15 per cent of the school children of this state either have juvenile tuberculosis, have been exposed to the disease in their homes, or are in such physical conditions as to render them ready victims should exposure occur.

"I am thoroughly convinced," Dr. Kelley declared today, "that this group of children, if neglected, will furnish the great bulk of our adult consumptives 10 or 15 years hence. On the other hand, I am equally certain that a very high percentage of all these children can be speedily and permanently cured if adequately treated while yet in the glandular stage of the disease."

"This glandular or childhood type of the disease is relatively easy to control. The evidence indicates that the later development of adult pulmonary tuberculosis in these cases can be prevented if the childhood state is recognized and appropriate treatment carried out before the lungs are actually invaded."

SICK FLAG FOR THE POLICE DEPARTMENT
A police department was presented a beautiful sick flag this morning by the James A. Garfield Women's Relief Corps, the presentation being made by Patriotic Instructor Grace Townsend, who was accompanied by President Anna Holland, and Past Presidents Nellie Whitney and Laura Coburn.

Patriotic Instructor Townsend, in making presentation spoke as follows: "The ladies of Corps 23, auxiliary of Post 129, G.A.R., take great pleasure in presenting flags wherever they are needed. We are doing one of our pleasant duties and it is our duty to help the Union veteran and his dependents; to care for the sick; to present flags through our patriotic instructor, Mrs. Townsend, and to always keep before the people the flag we love."

Supt. Atkinson responded for the police department and thanked the women for their generosity.

Careless Shampooing Spoils The Hair

Scalp should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Multisided coconut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Multisided coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Adv.

NOVEL BILLS IN LEGISLATURE

Measure Calls for Commission to Investigate Radio Broadcasting and Reception

Particular Attention to Admissibility of Broadcasting Legislative Proceedings

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Jan. 21.—The attention of legislative committees will be directed tomorrow to several bills of general interest, not the least interesting of which is one providing for the appointment of a special unpaid commission to investigate the subject of radio broadcasting and reception, with particular attention to the desirability of providing that legislative proceedings shall be broadcasted, to enable fans all over the state to follow the work of their senators and representatives more closely. This will be before the committee on mercantile affairs.

For consideration by the committee on legal affairs there will be a bill as novel as any which has found its way into the legislative hopper in recent years. It proposes that Feb. 22 shall be a legal holiday only in the even-numbered years, and that in the alternate add-numbered years the holiday shall fall on Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday.

The committee on highways and motor vehicles will consider two bills recommended by William E. Williams, state commissioner of public works.

One of these proposes that no gasoline tank or similar device may be erected on, and adjoining a state highway without the approval of the state department. The other that determination of the horse power of motor vehicles shall be left to the state division of highways, rather than to the registrar of motor vehicles.

Another motor vehicle bill, introduced by a Boston representative, provides that every physician shall display an identifying device or emblem on his car.

Before the committee on education there will be heard a bill, sponsored by Francis H. Rowley of the M.S.P.A., to require instruction in the public schools in the humane treatment of birds and animals.

The committee on legal affairs will also consider a bill giving to each city and town exclusive control over billboards, wiping out the present provision that their regulations shall be subject to approval by the highway division of the state department of public works.

OFFICES MUST BE MOVED TO SALEM

Mayor John J. Donovan today received a letter from Edmund W. Longley, vice-president of the N. E. Telephone & Telegraph Co., setting forth the reasons why it will be impossible for the company to alter plans for the movement of the Lowell accounting offices to Salem and acknowledging a letter from the mayor in which he expressed a desire to see the accounting rooms remain here.

The gist of the letter is that the company has found quarters in Salem which offer a splendid chance for expansion and at a price so attractive that it could not be overlooked.

Mr. Longley expresses regret that the company is forced to move this part of its business away from Lowell and reiterates what already has been said to the effect that all girls employed in the accounting room here will be given similar positions in Salem if they care to make the change of residence.

The Lowell Memorial Auditorium has a seating capacity of 4000. Imagine the Auditorium filled to capacity 20 times and you will get some idea of the number of people who read The Sun daily, and 90 per cent of the 80,000 readers of The Sun take no other Lowell newspaper.

A charge of two counts of non-support against Elmore G. Crowell was sustained by the court and a suspended sentence of three months in the house of correction was revoked and he was ordered committed.

A finding of guilty on two counts of violation of the food laws was made against Michael Bucavatas and he was fined $25. sentence suspended one month.

Now is the time to sell real estate. List your property in The Sun classified columns for quick results.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—With the second of Brig. Gen. The check up showed that more than 1000 arrests had been made from noon Friday until yesterday at noon.

General Butler, who was on the job throughout the drive with the exception of a few hours he took for sleep on Friday, expressed himself as well pleased with the result.

"Once again, we have accomplished what we set out to do," he said. "You can see for yourself that Philadelphia is closed up and as quiet as a city can be made. Joints that opened up after our first drive have been closed again, and places that we missed have been caught."

BABY RECOVERING AFTER TACK OPERATION

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—Clement Moore, the St. Louis baby from whose lung, a steel carpet tack three-quarters of an inch long, was removed yesterday at the University of Pennsylvania hospital and whose flying railroad journey to this city created wide attention, spent a restless night and was recovered today as well on the road to recovery. Unless unexpected complications arise, Dr. Chavallier Jackson, professor of bronchology at the University, said the baby would be well enough to be taken home within a few days. An abscess had formed in the lung tissues as a result of the pressure of the tack, but this was expected to heal rapidly. No indications of pneumonia, which had been feared, were found.

PLAN OF INSURANCE TO BE EXPLAINED
At the Lowell Institution for Savings tomorrow evening, at 8 o'clock, will be held a public meeting for discussion or explanation of the plan of the savings insurance plan which that bank has had in operation for some months past. The plan provides an insurance policy of $1000 to be had on payment of a certain amount monthly for ten years. If the insured is alive at the end of that time the amount paid in together with the cash value of the policy will not $1000. The deposit of the first is exactly the same as all other deposits subject to increase by the addition of dividends. The bank pays the premiums from the bank account and that the person is continually insured for $1000 plus whatever amount stands in the credit in the bank. Hence if the insured is 25 years old the amount per month $2.50 will be paid at the end of 10 years he would have $1,895 to his estate. Able speakers will explain the system and the public is invited.

$200,000 WORTH OF LIQUOR SEIZED

3000 Cases of Whiskey, Gin and Champagne, Tug and Six Men Taken After Chase

Pistol Battle Became Hand to Hand Fight After Police
Board Vessel

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Three thousand cases of whiskey, gin and champagne valued at $200,000, an ocean-going tugboat valued at $40,000, and six men, were seized early yesterday by officers of the police boat Manhattan after a battle in New York harbor that continued up the North river to the foot of Chambers st. No one was wounded in the exchange of shots and police found that the boat, the Capital No. 1, had been captured twice before.

The pistol battle became a hand-to-hand fight after police boarded the vessel, but three men who remained on board were overpowered and of the six or seven others who jumped from the tug and took to their heels three were captured by officers who pursued them.

The Manhattan had been patrolling the lower end of New York bay since 8 o'clock yesterday morning and had returned to the harbor. Off Governors' island, a boat without lights was discovered in the darkness and the tug was ordered to make a search. A shot from a machine gun aboard the police boat failed to stop the tug and both sped through the darkness up the river. The Manhattan was galloping on her prey when the Capital pulled in at Chambers street and her crew attempted to escape.

The six men were turned over to federal authorities and will be arraigned tomorrow. No guns were found aboard her and police believe they had been thrown overboard.

The Capital No. 1 was seized about 18 months ago when she was known as the John B. McManis. Recently she was taken for the second time off Governors' island. She is an ocean-going craft of 15 tons.

Mayor Issues Warning

mayor declares, and asks all heads of departments to keep in mind that citizens are entitled to relief from excessive taxation, and adds: "You must be prepared to convince me that your department will require more money this year than was expended in 1923."

The mayor is going to be "from Missouri" in relation to all estimates submitted to him and unless he is clearly shown why figures should be increased over last year, the axe will fall.

The letter in whole follows:

To Heads of Departments:—

Dear Sir:—

In the submission of your departmental budget estimates for 1924, I wish to suggest a presentation of figures accurate in every detail, insofar as is possible.

Supplement the budget sheets furnished you with a detailed statement explanatory of every subdivision of your appropriation, especially in cases where you will for not less than $1000, give all possible information for items that show an increase over last year's expenditures and if you are satisfied that an item in your budget may over- or under-run with a decreased amount of money, so state. It will permit a more thorough analysis and understanding of your departmental needs. If you will clearly explain the figures you present in accompanying statement filed with your estimate.

I must reiterate my suggestion of last year that no estimate be submitted based upon the expectation that a cut will be made anyway, therefore causing you to make the estimate higher in anticipation of such action. Any estimate submitted that indicates such a viewpoint is going to be dealt a severe blow.

Each in mind that our citizens are entitled to relief from excessive taxation, and it is through control of departmental expenditures that such relief may be given. You must be prepared to convince me that your department will require more money this year than was expended last year. I am not unreasonable, but I am firm in my decision to eliminate wasteful expenditure of public money. In fact, I am not so sure but what it is possible to operate this year on a decreased general budget from last year, so if you can do anything to help bring about such a condition.

JOHN J. DONOVAN, Mayor.

No Figures Ready Yet

and that much as no budgeting now is in prospect until the 1st of the month, it may not be possible to have figures ready before that time. An estimate based upon salaries and expenses and demands I will be available before the committee meets to take action upon the 1923 budget, but in view of the requests now before the board from teachers and sailors for pay increases, no revised schedule will be possible until the committee has acted upon these requests.

The police and fire department estimates, such to increase wage schedules based upon an increase of $1 per day for all private, are expected to be on hand Wednesday of this week.

In connection with these estimates, calling for making provision for wage increases, the budget and audit commission undoubtedly will hold hearings in order that the public will be made aware of the reasons for the increase for the police and fire departments.

Although he did not wish to speak for the other members of the commission, Chairman John A. Stevens said today that he hoped very probably will be held and representatives of the firemen and police were asked to appear before the commission to explain why more pay was wanted.

Building Inspector Francis A. Connor will hold a public hearing for carpenter and painters of his department in his estimate, but so far has received no request for an advance from the laborers in his division, who number about eight.

Spores Controversas was sentenced to the House of Correction for three months John G. Brown, James Manon, Sam Tappas, Louis Lampers, Ahmed Sney, James Douglas, Hassan Ali, Dominicos Georgandios, James Contsimanos and James Contreras were fined $5 each, and John Dallas and Thomas Soule fined $10 each in district court today on charges of being present where gaming implements were found. The sentence of three months was invoked upon Contsimanos after Judge Bright was told by Joseph Donahue, attorney for all but Contsimanos, that the latter had charged one of the raiding officers with stealing the money involved in the raid when as a matter of fact the money was found upon his person in the station.

The raid which resulted in the arrest of the fifteen was conducted by Sgt. Winn and Officers Moore and Conney yesterday afternoon. An attempt to raid the alleged gambling den in the early morning was frustrated by four watchmen on guard.

Believing in the old adage, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again," the officers returned in the afternoon and succeeded in making only when Officer Conney spoke to one watchman in Greek and convinced him of his desire to take part in the game.

The watchman opened the door and was seized and attended by the officers. Officer Conney entered the club room where it is alleged two exciting card games were in progress and tipped the tables. The attempt to gain freedom via the doors and run into the arms of Sgt. Winn and Officer Moore. Considerable evidence was found by the officers and then the fifteen named gentlemen were transported to the station.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

BIG A. O. H. AND LADIES' AUXILIARY MEETING IN AUDITORIUM

Over 2000 Members and Friends Present at Gathering Presided Over by James J. McManmon—Mayor James M. Curley of Boston Principal Speaker

Hon. James M. Curley, mayor of Boston, in addressing an enthusiastic membership meeting of the members of the local divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the ladies' auxiliary, in the Memorial Auditorium yesterday afternoon, directed a bitter attack against the Ku Klux Klan, characterizing that organization as one that "no longer exists except in the barnyard where it rightfully belongs."

Mayor Curley's denunciation of the Klan came in the course of his spirited remarks for a bigger and greater Hibernian organization in this city. The Boston chief executive was the principal speaker of the big members' large membership in the A.O.H., saying: "It serves as a spiritual asset to the country and a defender of the greatest faith ever known. It has saved an arm to the immigrant girl and boy and has given them hope, courage and inspiration, and has blazed the way of sacrifice for God and country. It is an organization whose membership has taken part in every movement of our government and has contributed greatly to the safety of the country, holding at all times equality for all men regardless of race or creed."

Principal Speaker

James J. McManmon, president of the meeting, called to order by James J. McManmon, an enthusiastic member for all Irish causes in this city. After welcoming the gathering and extending the appreciation of the good and welfare committee in charge of the meeting, he called upon Michael J. Johnson, organizer of St. Patrick's church, who played several Irish melodies on the Auditorium organ. John O'Brien then led the audience in the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," which was followed by two pleasing solo selections, "Maxoureen" and "Mother in Ireland" by Mrs. Margaret McDonough Maguire.

Rev. Dr. Keleher

The first speaker of the afternoon was Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, D.D., pastor of St. Peter's church. "The constitution of Hibernianism and its laws," he said, "represent the principles that have preserved the Irish race, for the Irish have been loyal to God and loyal to country, and everyone knows what the Hibernians have done to preserve an undying spirit of liberty in the Irish race."

Dr. Keleher took occasion to pay a tribute to the ladies' auxiliary, saying it is doing a splendid work in a generous and charitable manner.

At the conclusion of his talk, Chairman McManmon gave a brief historical sketch of the Hibernians in Lowell, dating back 57 years. In that space of time, he said, statistics showed the sum of $19,250 to have been spent for the sick and for funerals, $10,000 donated to the charity fund and $72,817.75 subscribed to the Irish bond drive.

Rev. Dr. McQuarry

Previous to the introduction of Rev. John J. McQuarry, D.D., pastor of St. Patrick's church, a series of delightful numbers was given by Francis, Margaret and John McQuarry.

"The Ancient Order of Hibernians," said Dr. McQuarry in opening, "should feel at home in Lowell. The Irish race has contributed to the glory and the progress of the world in a way no other nation can excel. Its people are present in all the arts and have a love of country, and a love of religion that should be cultivated by all."

"I like to talk of Ireland and of the Irish people. The Ancient Order of Hibernians is providentially designed to carry the virtues of the old Irish people to the sons and daughters of today. It holds an important position in the community and should be proud of it. It deserves the sympathy, the cooperation and the active help of those who wish well of Ireland and the country in which we live. I trust that the A.O.H. will carry on as it has in the past and flourish here as it never did before, so that every Irishman may be able to say he is proud of the blood that courses in his veins."

Mrs. Nora Regan was the most contributor to the entertainment program, and obliged with her inimitable renditions of "I Hear You Calling Me," "Ireland, I Love You," and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

Rev. James F. Lynch

The next speaker was Rev. James F. Lynch, of St. Michael's church, who said he was present at the meeting as the representative of his pastor. Rev. John J. Shaw, Fr. Lynch said that the people of centralville are interested in Hibernianism and are active members of the parish. He also spoke encouragingly of the contemplated membership drive and urged the present members to keep the good name of the Irish unblemished and unstained until the end of time.

Raymond Kelly followed Fr. Lynch with solos, "Mother Macneil" and "The Rose Tree." Fr. Lynch said that the people of centralville are interested in Hibernianism and are active members of the parish. He also spoke encouragingly of the contemplated membership drive and urged the present members to keep the good name of the Irish unblemished and unstained until the end of time.

Other Speakers

While awaiting the arrival of Mayor Curley, the chairman called for volunteer speakers. James J. Reynolds of Wallingford, past county president, received and paid a compliment to local Hibernians when he said the men of Lowell have done more for Hibernianism than those of any other city in this section of the country. "The A.O.H.," he added, "has done much to assist the Irish in America. It has been instrumental in driving from the streets caricatures on the Irish. It has battered down the spirit of bigotry in this country."

The final speaker before Mayor Curley's appearance was John J. Donnelly of Cambridge, past president of the central council. He pleaded for the younger generation to join the A.O.H., saying it was an obligation on them to do so, if for no other reason than to perpetuate the racial pride of their forefathers, who came here 50 years ago.

The meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the "Soldier Song," with the singing of the "Soldier Song," with the singing of the "Soldier Song."

The speaker then pleaded for a creditable manner.

The Ku Klux Klan

"Later we had an organization thoroughly anti-American and with no excuse for its existence, raising its head from one end of America to the other. Places of worship were destroyed by the torch of this new assassin of American life, led by an unscrupulous scoundrel that we have succeeded in practically driving out of the country."

"Some time ago, a meeting of this organization was held in Worcester and was attended by 25000 people. And then they came to Boston but I gave them to understand that any license issued to them for a meeting in a public hall would be revoked. The meeting was not held, for the Ku Klux Klan no longer exists except in the barnyard where it rightfully belongs."

"Continued vigilance is necessary, however. It is an intelligent to consider that you should not have work for the Ancient Order of Hibernians as it is to say that organizers should not work for organized labor. To bring about better working conditions in industry is the purpose of organized labor. We must remember that the American republic, great as it is, has been in existence less than a century and a half, but it can be better than the glorious organizations made better."

"Dedicated to God like the A.O.H.," "With the present trend of public opinion, it is going to be a difficult matter to preserve the constitution of the United States. The country would be better if there were 10 times as many organizations like the Hibernians to keep aloft the glorious traditions of the country and to stand as a protest against the 'divine right' theory in America."

Dr. Walter E. Fernald of Waverly Addresses League of Catholic Women

Before an audience that filled Liberty hall to capacity yesterday afternoon, Dr. Walter E. Fernald, superintendent of the school for feeble-minded at Waverly, addressed the members of the League of Catholic Women at their monthly meeting on the subject, "Bright Children and Dull Children."

A musical entertainment was given before and after Dr. Fernald's address under the direction of Mrs. Ella Kelly Toye. The opening number was the "Hymn to the Holy Name" sung by the audience with Mrs. James A. Murphy directing. Miss Kathleen Jennings was soloist and William Fitzgerald violinist. The program follows:

Minuet Zardo
Farewell to Chevalier and Irish air, Kreiser
Rezeda Grind
Still as the Night (violin obligato), Bohm
Mazurka Myrskowski
Our knowledge of children, said Dr. Fernald, has been handed down from mother to daughter for generations, and it is only recently that we have begun to assemble it and make it valuable.

In dealing with children, it must be remembered, he continued, that there are three periods in childhood, three periods of the child's life when he is easily influenced and when proper training is absolutely essential. The first period is the first five or six years when the child is at home and during which period the home upon which the future life of the child is built. During this period it is the home environment that is pressed upon the child, and it is up to the mother and father of the child to see that the impressions gained in the home are healthy while the child is at home. The second great period in the first few years spent at school. During this time the child is placed under restraint for part of his time least and learns to adapt himself to his surroundings.

The third period discussed by Dr. Fernald is the time when the child goes to be 12 or 14 years of age, when he desires to be independent, and a great responsibility rests upon the parents at this time in seeing that the child is allowed to break away from parental control in such a way that there is no abrupt break.

In this country, he continued, intelligence is oversold. The graded schools are hard on the children of slightly less than average intelligence and the result is after a short while the slightly backward children become discouraged and defiant, on leaving school these boys and girls get into trouble, fully 60 per cent of the population of average intelligence.

In connection with the school at Waverly and its work, Dr. Fernald stated that there are 1600 patients with much lower mental than physical age. In the past these children who need very much have been given very little and we have waited until they get into trouble and then they are sent away to institutions. Now, however, the state has undertaken prevention methods. Since in every seven or eight weeks a woman doctor or psychologist of the state department visits the schools and observes the children and then goes to the homes of these low average intelligence and makes conditions there. When a report is made to the superintendent of schools and only he and the teacher know about it. In this way all the Waverly group does is to point out the need and the real correction work must be done in the school, church and home.

Spanish War Veterans Celebrate Their 25th Mustering Out Anniversary

Spanish war veterans of the United States have been formally invited by President Zayas of the Cuban republic to hold their 1924 convention in Havana in conjunction with the Cuban veterans.

This would enable Lowell Spanish war veterans to take part in the dedication of the Roosevelt memorial at San Juan Hill, Santiago de Cuba, also to attend the unveiling of the Maine memorial which the Cuban government proposes to erect in Havana.

These were outstanding items of news garnered Saturday evening at the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of the mustering out of Company C, Mechanics Philadelpha, veterans of the Spanish-American war, observed with happy exercises and with rare good-fellowship predominating around the banquet boards at the Richardson hotel.

Memories of the famous Porto Rico campaign in 1898, reminiscences of sordid detentions in typhoid camps with medicines and food scarce, stories about Gen. Miles and also "Diamond Hare" from Atkinson, N. H., came up, spun over events at Montauk point and Framingham muster field—everything ancient but never-to-be forgotten, made the twenty-fifth rally of Company C survivors worth attending.

More than 80 members of the old Sixth regiment command are living today and most of them came to Lowell for the reunion Saturday evening. Col. Alexander Trevis, former company commander in 1895, was there and warmly entertained by his old-time boys in blue.

Mayor John J. Donovan was early on hand, with Edward Fisher, president of the chamber of commerce and former member of Troop E, cavalry; William Prescott, representing Capt. Fairweather; H. Armand Second, Charles Parker, commander of The Soldiers' home in Chelsea; William Bock, president of Company C, Association of the World War; Arthur Gilbert W. Hunt and Billy Lyon of Westford street armory; Tommy Young of Atkinson, N. H., who lost the goose in Porto Rico.

Colonel Edward J. Gibbon, formerly captain of the Wakefield company in the old Sixth; Colin C. Macdonald, commander of Lowell post, American Legion; James A. O'Connor, oldest living member of Company C, who fought in the civil war; Rev. Appleton Grant, rector of St. Anne's church; Arthur Salmon, Joseph, telephone from New Hampshire, absent for 25 years from similar reunions; Gardner W. Peabody, former district attorney; Commander Arthur McQuade of Post 42; Commander George B. Barnett of Post 120 and Commander Franklin Peever of Post 155, G.A.R., and others. Luncheon in civil and military affairs past and present, were also in barracks.

The banquet ceremonials were started at 6.30 p. m. post-prandial exercises being opened by Willard D. Pratt, president of Company C associates. Many of the invited guests from major down were called upon for remarks. Reciter Francis pleaded earnestly for Americanism and endorsed the late president's plea for an international court of justice.

Letters of regret were read from absent comrades, including George F. Wagon, former captain of B. Pratt, Hon. Charles H. Allen, secretary of the navy during the Spanish war; Russell G. Goring, Capt. A. D. Mitten and Hon. John Jacob Rogers. The Mendelssohn quartet sang many songs reminiscent of Cuban campaign days. At the business meeting of the association held just before the banquet, officers for 1924 were elected as follows:

W. D. Pratt, president; Charles Fancourt, secretary and treasurer. The committee handling Saturday night's anniversary program included Willard D. Pratt, Charles Fancourt, Arthur Salmon, Major Colby T. Kitzredge, Lieut. Charles J. Duffy and Capt. Alexander D. Mitchell.

May Visit Cuba Again

Members of Company C are today discussing the proposed journey to Cuba to participate in the dedication of the Roosevelt memorial and the unveiling of the Maine memorial. Information received Saturday evening from S.W.C. national headquarters revealed that the Honorable Rough Riders association has started work on the memorial at San Juan Hill, where Roosevelt's troops distinguished themselves. President Zayas of Cuba in a letter to Albert D. Agram of Cincinnati, national commander of the Spanish War veterans, said the Maine memorial would be completed in time to be dedicated.

Havana Camp No. 1, U.S.W.V., has announced a committee to aid in obtaining the national convention of the war veterans, which has already been scheduled for next November. The veterans at their last convention tentatively selected Michigan City, Ind., for this year's national round-up.

The speaker at the meeting of the Lions' club tomorrow in the Y.M.C.A. will be Mr. George Wood of Nahant, who was instrumental in forming the Lowell branch of the organization. He will talk on various matters of interest to the speakers.

Opposition to Extension of Working Hours Vigorously Voiced at Mass Meeting

Lowell textile workers affiliated with the United Textile Workers of America, in mass meeting yesterday afternoon at Trades and Labor council hall on Central street, went on record as emphatically opposed to any effort on the part of manufacturers and others to extend the limit that women and minors may work in this state from the present 18 hours to 54 hours weekly. John Hanley, member of the executive board of the U. T. W. A., presided at the meeting, which was largely attended.

Members of local trades unions spoke at length against the alleged attempt on the part of leading textile manufacturers to increase the hours of daily labor and add to the burdens of those who work in the mills to obtain a livelihood. The bill upon which official action was taken yesterday by the Lowell textile workers in assembly, has been recently introduced in the state legislature by certain manufacturers and calls for working week extensions for women and children in all lines of industries. Since this became known, organized labor in other branches of employment outside of the textile work have been interested in the program backed by employers, and speculation in the legislative campaign is widespread.

At yesterday's meeting of the local textile workers, a committee was appointed to consider the matter of a suitably worded statement to the legislature and means to oppose the 54-hour bills and an open meeting for public attendance will be held on Feb. 7, when both sides of the question will be heard.

A committee on resolutions was also chosen yesterday to draw up a suitable statement covering Lowell textile workers' position on the matter to be debated. It is planned to fight the proposed bill to a finish.

It is understood that although various bills striking against the 48-hour law have been introduced in current legislative hearing calendars, none of them has as yet been printed.

MAYOR ISSUES WARNING NO FIGURES READY YET

Padded Estimates Will Be Dealt Severe Blow, He Tells Department Heads

A warning against "padded" estimates in connection with 1924 appropriations is included in a letter today placed in the hands of departmental heads by Mayor John J. Donovan. The mayor also makes suggestion that he is not sure but what it will be possible to operate the city this year on a general budget lower than in 1923 and asks for co-operation to make this possible. "Any estimate submitted that indicates high figures in anticipation of a cut will be dealt a severe blow," the mayor writes.

BLOCKADE OF COLOGNE AREA

Traffic Between British and Other Allied Zones in Rhineland Prohibited

London Says if Order is Enforced Serious Situation Will Come About

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Word that the Franco-Belgian railroad administration had issued orders prohibiting traffic between the British and other allied zones in the Rhineland was received here with astonishment. The action is said to be tantamount to a blockade of the Cologne area, and there is considerable concern in some quarters which say that if the order is made effective, a very serious situation among the allies will come about.

These critics interpret the reported order as designed to frighten away the British from Cologne, thus removing the last obstacle to the establishment of an autonomous Rhineland. No official statement has as yet been forthcoming, but it is understood the government has already instructed Lord Curzon, the British ambassador at Paris, to press France for an explanation.

VENIZELOS SUFFERS
FIRST SETBACK

ATHENS, Jan. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Venizelos suffered the first important check of his peace-making efforts on Saturday night, when only 11 of the 26 political opponents he had summoned to a conference answered his call. The meeting broke up.

The premier's royalist opponents were preponderantly against his proposal for referendum to determine whether the future government of the country shall be republican or monarchical. Their objections were based on the ground that the appeal to the people could not bring peace out of the present chaotic political situation.

Lowell Man Seriously Injured in
Auto Crash in Billerica Centre
Early This Forenoon

LOW AUTO LOOKED AFTER THE CRASH

Traveling at high speed through Billerica Centre and bound for Woburn, a Ford sedan car, owned and driven by John A. Mendes, 33 years old, of 52 Chippewa street, Lowell, crashed head-on into a loaded lumber truck driven by Philip G. Bryson of Bedford, at the corner of Lowell and Bedford streets, at 3:45 o'clock this morning.

Mendes was seriously injured and is now at St. John's hospital, where physicians are to X-ray his wounds, fearing a possible fracture of the skull.

His left eye and forehead were badly lacerated by flying glass.

Both machines were badly damaged, but Bryson, driver of the lumber truck, escaped injury. The Ford sedan was completely wrecked. The Ford sedan was completely wrecked. The Ford sedan was completely wrecked.

The collision was a spectacular one, the crash causing a report that sounded like the explosion of a small bomb. Residents of the town hurried from their homes on either side of the highway to render assistance.

They found the Ford sedan overturned in the middle of the roadway, with pieces of wreckage scattered around for a distance of 50 feet.

Broken glass from the windshield of both machines was strewn over the highway. The top of the sedan was jammed down closely against the debris caused by the crushing of the radiator, doors and side frames, and the owner and driver of the car could not be seen.

Just as Driver Bryson reached the wrecked Ford, he saw Mendes raise his arms through the wreckage and pull away pieces of glass and broken seat frames. Mendes was soon able to extricate himself. He crawled through the opening and dropped in the street.

The Ford owner was bleeding fast from his facial injuries and was very much dazed. He was assisted to the office of Dr. M. A. Buck, who administered first aid treatment and then summoned the ambulance.

Bryson, driver of the lumber truck, was on his way to Lowell, coming from Bedford with a heavy load of box boards for a Middlesex street lumber concern. He was moving slowly when the collision occurred and was just entering the Lowell-Woburn highway.

When he saw Mendes coming from Lowell and travelling at high speed directly toward him, he says he could not avert a collision and told Chief of Police Livingston that Mendes apparently expected him to give the Lowell car the right of way. Chief Livingston said he was told that Mendes was travelling at a very high rate of speed.

Mendes is married. He told the Billerica authorities that he was bound for Woburn to attend a funeral. He was travelling alone and had a box of cut flowers in the sedan.

The truck was a Walker-Johnson and is owned by Herbert L. Clark of Davis road, Bedford. The radiator was torn away and one of the front steps damaged. The cab windows were also shattered.

CHAMBER SETS DATE FOR ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Lowell chamber of commerce will be held on Feb. 13, it was announced this afternoon after a meeting of the chamber board of directors.

At this meeting several important matters will come up for debate, including a proposition for amendments to the constitution and bylaws. Officers are to be elected for the coming year and there is some speculation as to probable changes for the different organizations.

The directors voted to co-operate with the Ad club in the latter's proposed winter carnival.

The movement to place adequate markers at joints in Lowell where the old Middlesex canal crosses highways, was furthered at today's meeting, when it was voted to install stone markers indicating the canal route at the following places: Where the old canal branched off the Merrimack river or course, at the Princeton boulevard crossing, at Middlesex, Westford and Chelmsford streets. The markers will be inscribed: "Middlesex canal route, 1804-1843."

LOWELL HAS MANY
LADY BOOTLEGGERS

"There are so many lady bootleggers now that they are almost as bad as the men," said Judge Enright in district court this morning when Josie Sarachek was arraigned on a continued charge of illegal keeping. "The district court judges are to meet in Boston Thursday," he continued, "and one of the most important matters to be discussed by them will be the matter of giving direct jail sentences on first offenses of this kind, and I hope they do decide to do this." He then granted Josie another continuance.

PROTEST PETITION TO ABOLISH TAX LIMIT

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—Representatives of the Boston chamber of commerce, Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange and the Boston finance commission, appeared before the legislative committee on municipal finance today in opposition to the petition of Mayor Curley to abolish the tax limit and permit the mayor and city council to fix the limit.

Charles L. Allen, legislative counsel for the chamber of commerce, said the bill was a "hardy annual" and should not be reported favorably, as the present law was a safeguard against grabs on the city treasury.

Judge Michael J. Sullivan, chairman of the Boston finance commission, said conditions had not changed to warrant the lifting of the tax limit.

"Money is being spent by this administration as if the ocean were the limit," he said.

TWO CAPTAINS AND FIVE HOSEMEN
DIE IN PITTSBURGH FIRE

Ladder Collapsed, Hurling Fire-fighters to Death in Tank of Oil at Plant of Atlantic Refining Co.—Many Others Injured

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—Seven men were drowned in oil, two captains and five hosemen of the Pittsburgh fire department, while fighting a fire at the Butler street plant of the Atlantic Refining Co. today. The bodies were recovered after the fire had been brought under control, with the monetary loss unestimated.

The dead are:
Captain Edward Jones
Captain Rudolph Hise
Hoseman Patrick Abbott
Hoseman Robert Smith
Hoseman John Markham
Hoseman Samuel Bollinger
Hoseman Harry J. Praxier.

A number of firemen also were injured.

The fire broke out in a tank containing 10,000 gallons of oil, soon after 5 o'clock. Seven companies answered the alarm and fire lines were thrown out for four or five city blocks on each side of the refinery, which adjoins a residential district and has been the scene of a number of costly blazes.

Many families deserted their homes and additional fire apparatus was summoned as the morning wore on.

Shortly before 6 o'clock the captains and their men were on a ladder which extended above the top of a tank adjoining the burning oil. The oil in this tank was being drawn off when the ladder broke and the men fell into the tank. A chemical extinguisher, automatically released by the heat of the burning oil, nearby the authorities said, covered the oil and fumes arising from it were believed to have overcome the struggling firemen. They sank at once and the bodies later were recovered through the manhole at the bottom of the tank.

The other firemen suffered severely because the mercury was two degrees below zero. All of the injured were firemen who fell from the icy tops of the tank to which they had climbed.

The cause of the fire had not been determined by officers of the company for would they venture an estimate of the loss, which consisted of two buildings and a considerable quantity of oil.

REBEL BLOCKADE POSTPONED AS
U. S. WARSHIP ARRIVES

Admiral Magruder Reports to Navy Department That Rebel Blockade Off Tampico Has Been "Postponed" Until End of Present Month

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The rebel blockade of the port of Tampico has been "postponed" until the end of the present month, Rear Admiral Magruder reported to the navy department today on his arrival off that port aboard his flagship, the cruiser Richmond.

In announcing receipt of this message the state department said that Admiral Magruder had not indicated the source of his information. His message served, however, to relieve tension in Washington in connection with the Tampico situation.

The Richmond will remain off Tampico for the present. No orders have been sent to the cruiser Omaha and the six destroyers accompanying her from Panama to Vera Cruz, but probably some of them will join the Richmond at Tampico.

Officials are unwilling to comment on the significance of the word "postponed" in Admiral Magruder's message. It is evident, however, that they are hopeful that the blockade problem will not be revived and that the warning to Mexican rebel leaders emphasized by the presence of American war vessels at Tampico, has been sufficient.

The Richmond steamed northward to Tampico after picking up at Vera Cruz most of the crew of the stranded cruiser Tacoma. These men probably will be distributed among such other vessels as may arrive later at Tampico.

The naval tug Bay Spring was reported by wireless as having taken refuge in Vera Cruz harbor. She was sent to the aid of the Tacoma from Pensacola, and she and the tug Allagany are the naval vessels remaining in the Vera Cruz region since departure of the Richmond.

If the storm is of such proportions as to drive the tugs inside the Vera Cruz harbor, navy officers doubt whether the Richmond will be able to maintain herself close to shore. She has ample power to put to sea in the teeth of the wind, however, and is able to ride out in safety virtually any weather she might encounter so long as she has sea room.

Troops Pass Through El Paso
EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 21.—A special train carrying approximately 1,500 Mexican federal troops passed through El Paso today at 6:35 a. m. and was immediately routed to Juarez. Special guards of United States troops and El Paso police accompanied them.

BOK CALLED TO STAND
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Edward W. Bok, donor of the $100,000 award for the best world peace plan, was called today before a senate committee, charged with investigating propaganda designed to influence the action of congress and the government's foreign policy.

The purpose of the committee is to determine whether there is any relation between the Bok award and organizations having for their purpose American adherence to the League of Nations. Examination of Mr. Bok is in the hands of Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, author of the resolution of inquiry and of the senate "interrogatories" on the League of Nations.

The cross-questioning of Mr. Bok is expected to continue through tomorrow. After he leaves the stand, Miss Esther Everett Lape, head of the policy committee of the Bok award, will be called.

Mr. Bok told the committee that he personally selected Edwin Bok to serve on the jury which made the award.

"I did not give my approval to the other members," Mr. Bok said in reply to questions by Chairman Moses. "I was not asked to approve them."

The witness said that "cooperative agencies" had sent in the names of the nominees.

Several lodgers were assisted out by firemen and policemen and three firemen sustained minor injuries. Owing to the high wind and the proximity of other wooden buildings, a general alarm was sounded.

REBELS WANT $400,000

Demand Payment From Petroleum Co. Under Threat to Destroy Property

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Payment by the Mexican Petroleum Co. of $400,000 to Adolfo de la Huerta, leader of the Mexican revolutionary faction, to prevent him from carrying out a threat to destroy the company's property at Tampico, hinges upon capture of the Mexican port by the revolutionary faction, according to H. G. Wylie, vice president of the company.

Mr. Wylie declared that the threat to seize the property unless an advance in export oil taxes was paid in the revolutionists was received about ten days ago.

Representatives of the company who had taken up the demand with the state department in Washington, he said, had been advised to protect the Tampico property by complying with the demand in the event that de la Huerta gained control of the port.

Gas
THE MANUFACTURE OF COAL GAS

Coal gas is made by heating bituminous coal about eight hours in externally heated, air tight, fire clay retorts. Gas is driven off, and a residue called "gas house coke" is left in each retort; this is withdrawn and a charge of fresh coal added.

From the retorts the gas passes into the hydraulic main, from which it is withdrawn by the exhaustor and pushed to the condenser. In the condenser the gas is cooled by water surrounding tubes through which the gas passes. This condenses the tar and oil carried in the gas to a liquid which flows out at the bottom through water sealed pipes into the tar storage tank. From the condenser the gas goes to the scrubber, which consists of a cylindrical tower containing a number of wooden trays having slats running crosswise in checkerboard fashion and where a water spray at the top of the tower keeps the slats wet and washes the impurities down over the wet surfaces, where the gas gives up its ammonia to the water. This ammonia solution is removed at the bottom through a water sealed drain and delivered to an ammonia storage tank.

After passing through the purifier, the gas goes through the station meter, which measures the volume, and then to the storage holder. It is then distributed through the mains to the consumer.

BRITISH RAIL STRIKE BEGINS

Locomotive Engineers and Firemen Quit at Midnight—Efforts at Mediation Fail

Strike Call Obedied by Great Majority of 59,000 Members of Unions

LONDON, Jan. 21. (By the Associated Press).—A statement issued early this morning at the headquarters of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen which last night, called a strike on the railways of Great Britain, said the men were coming out solidly and standing together splendidly. Press telegrams arriving through the small hours of the day suggested that this assertion was likely to prove not far from the truth.

Some reports told of union members who were willing to continue work. Apparently some traffic was moved after midnight, but in the main it seemed the strike call would be obeyed by a great majority of the organization's 59,000 members.

After a by the railroad companies to run trains on restricted schedules are being watched anxiously by the public. The success of a limited service depends in the first instance on the loyalty of those locomotive men who belong to the National Union of Railwaymen, among whose 320,000 members, it is said, are about 20 or 30 thousand engineers. Neither this union nor the railway clerks' organization are supporting the strike.

If the locomotive men belonging to the national union obey the instructions of John H. Thomas and other leaders to ignore the strike, some districts of England, Scotland, Wales, will not fare altogether badly. However, there were signs today that many engineers and firemen in the national union of railwaymen would co-operate with their striking fellows in the other organization.

The companies this morning continued to profess their ability to meet the needs of the traveling public to a considerable degree and said the strike must be of short duration. However, J. Brounley, secretary of the Associated Society of Firemen and Engineers, expressed the conviction that the strike could hold up 50 per cent of the traffic of the country in a fortnight, which time he said would be long enough to prevent the companies from making profits, the avowed purpose of his union. The organization leaders have asserted that the railways will lose more in two weeks than they can make in five years.

The London newspapers roundly condemn the strike with the exception of the laborite Daily Herald, which, although not supporting the movement, seeks to defend the strikers against the accusation of having been guilty of a breach of faith.

TO PASS LABOR'S NO CONFIDENCE MOTION

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(By the Associated Press). The passage of labor's no confidence motion in the house of commons tonight will mean the disappearance of what political observers predict will prove to be the last purely conservative government of Great Britain, ushering in a new era in British politics.

Among the chief speakers at today's final debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, which Prime Minister Baldwin, David Lloyd George and Ramsey MacDonald, some of the political gossips say that the premier means to handle the situation "with gloves off."

The division has been fixed for 11 o'clock this evening. The vote will take about 15 minutes and so the result should be known not later than 11:20 p. m.

The very restricted accommodations for the public in the house of commons will be packed, for the applications for admission to the galleries have been greatly in excess of the available space.

The latest estimates placed the majority hostile to the government at about 60 or 70 votes, with very few liberals supporting Mr. Baldwin or abstaining from balloting.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS HOLDS BIG MEETING

Lowell officials of the Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, joined hands with state officials in a non-star meeting in Amesbury yesterday, held for the purpose of arousing interest in the fourth degree exemption to be held in the Lowell Memorial Auditorium on May 4 next. It was an overflow meeting, necessitating the removal from the spacious K. of C. home to the banquet hall in the town. This, too, was crowded to the doors.

The principal speaker was Louis Watson, fourth degree master of the K. of C. in this province. He spoke enthusiastically of the Bishop Delany assembly of Lowell and the interest it has aroused in Massachusetts over the forthcoming meeting. Mr. Watson also gave some interesting statistics and praised the Lowell Memorial Auditorium as a splendid place for the function.

State Treasurer Thomas J. McGrath of Newburyport and one of the "big leaguers" on the speakers' staff, was in good form. He spoke eloquently of the achievements of Amesbury council, saying it was to his mind not unlike the remarkable progress of Lowell council, and hoped that the state officers of the fourth degree would receive their co-operation. He dwelt on the splendid success with which State Deputy Prout has met. Mr. McGrath's speech was one of the best of the day and he was given a fine hand.

Mayer Michael J. Cashman of Newburyport, a fourth degree knight and a man of substantial business connections in that vicinity, was another of the speakers, and said that Lowell was, in his opinion, a most progressive city. He is hopeful, he said, of an event of eminent success here on May 4.

Charles J. Landers of Lowell, past district deputy, styled the proposed affair as an outstanding K. of C. celebration and predicted an event unsurpassed anywhere in the east. John V. Donoghue, faithful navigator of Bishop Delany assembly, brought the greetings of his assembly. He emphasized the widespread interest all over Massachusetts and said he was looking for a great showing from Essex county.

Councilor James F. Hennessy and Chief Edward F. Saunders, also spoke. Meetings are now being arranged in Lawrence, Boston, Westminster and Fitchburg.

The Lowell men and state officers were entertained at dinner at the Garrison Inn at 6 o'clock. Grand Knight John F. Ryan of Amesbury was in charge.

578 KILLED BY AUTOS IN 1923

Total Represents an Increase of 56 Deaths Over Record of 1922

Registrar Goodwin Says Fatalities Represent One Death for Each 999 Cars

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Jan. 21.—Five hundred and seventy-eight persons were killed in this state last year in accidents in which motor vehicles were involved, this representing an increase of 56 deaths over the record of 1922.

While last year's number is the largest ever, with the single exception of 1919, Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles, points out in a statement today that in respect to the number of cars on the highway it is the best record ever made in this state. It represents one death for each 999 cars registered.

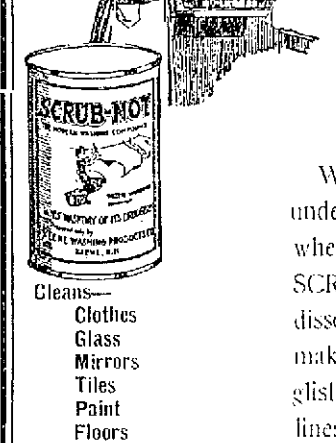

Following the appalling record of 1919, when there were 582 deaths with only 260,881 cars registered, the registry of motor vehicles, then recently established by the legislature and placed in charge of Mr. Goodwin, began a safety campaign, the chief feature of which was the revocation of the license of every person convicted or suspected of operating while under the influence of liquor, coupled with a drive against speeding motorists.

That this campaign has proven increasingly successful is shown by the fact that the percentage of accidents to cars registered has steadily declined, although the natural expectation would be that it would increase, due to more crowding of the roads.

In 1919, there were 418 cars registered for each death. In 1920 this ratio was increased to 664; in 1921 to 881; in 1922 to 884; and in 1923 it reached the amazing figure of 999.

Another interesting feature of Mr. Goodwin's review of the activities of his department in the past year is that approximately 20 per cent of the persons examined, in connection with their applications for licenses to drive, were rejected. In figures, the year's record shows 145,121 persons examined, of whom 29,223 failed to pass the required tests and were accordingly not permitted to have licenses.

Face-the-Facts Conference at Washington—Volstead Act Denounced

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Treading on the heels of the anti-saloon league's meeting in time, and on its toes in spirit, the "face-the-facts" conference sponsored by the association against the prohibition amendment got underway here today, with speakers hurling verbal volleys at the Volstead act and the league. The delegates also had an engagement with President Coolidge at noon, similar to the fall made by the anti-saloon league convention.

"Double enforcement of the 18th amendment by the state and federal courts constitutes intolerable persecution and has been so characterized by judges on the bench," declared Austin G. Fox, president of the Moderation league of New York. "The legislature of the state of New York saw it and in 1922 removed the cause by repealing its enforcement act."

"The anti-saloon league's determination to not merely to enforce the Volstead law," Mr. Fox asserted, "but to deny every great principle that stands in the way of tyrannical procedure—and tyrannical procedure begets revolt."

"Which shall it be, amendment or revolt?" he asked, declaring: "We stand for prompt amendment."

The anti-saloon league's determination to not merely to enforce the Volstead law, but to deny every great principle that stands in the way of tyrannical procedure—and tyrannical procedure begets revolt—"Which shall it be, amendment or revolt?" he asked, declaring: "We stand for prompt amendment."

The officers of the post wish all members who have tickets left from the arithmetic hall to return them to-night, or as soon as possible, to Dr. C. R. Livingston, 258 Merrimack street, in order that a final report may be made by the committee in charge of the affair.

New Rectory for St. Margaret's Parish

ST. MARGARET'S RECTORY IN STEVENS STREET, WHICH WILL BE REPLACED BY NEW HOME NEXT FALL.

Of interest to the parishioners of St. Margaret's church in connection with the annual report of the pastor, Rev. Charles J. Galligan, which was read at all the masses yesterday, is the announcement that a new parish rectory will be built in Stevens street during the coming year. The pastor said this morning that no definite plans for the erection of the new home had been arranged as yet, but he expressed the hope that construction work would start early next fall. Practically the same location on which the present rectory in Stevens street stands, will be used for the proposed new home only it will be removed further back from the street front.

The movement for a more commodious parish house in St. Margaret's church in connection with the beautifying of Catholic church property in the Highlands, a few months ago, the church was completely renovated and is today, exteriorly and interiorly, one of the finest of the smaller church edifices in the city.

The present needs of the parish and the remarkable progress made in the past few years in given as the reason for the building of a new home for the priests. The rectory now used was purchased when the church was built growing demands of the parish. It was formerly a private residence, and although improvements have been made from time to time, it still proved inadequate.

FINED FOR VIOLATION OF AUTO LAWS

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Attempts to bring about the restoration of unit rule for the New York delegation to the democratic national convention will be opposed by the McAdoo forces in the state, according to David Hunter Miller, state campaign manager for William G. McAdoo.

Referring to a bill introduced in the legislature at Albany, providing that a state convention might require the delegates to a national convention to vote as a unit, Mr. Miller declared in a statement today that such a rule would be "undemocratic and reactionary" and that it would violate the spirit of the democratic state platform which declared for direct primaries.

Mr. Miller said that McAdoo supporters were not opposed to Governor Alfred E. Smith and that the latter would undoubtedly get the solid vote of the New York delegation so long as he remained a candidate for the presidency. He declared, however, that the delegates should be free to vote for any individual candidate, should Gov. Smith withdraw.

SCHOOL EXERCISES

Every once in a while some conscientious objector or writer on health topics rises to denounce what he terms stiff, formal drills or one-two-three exercises in the public schools. Body movements are also included, such as foot movements, arm flexing and body bending, in classes or in groups.

However, these school exercises are of great value in body building, graceful movements and carriage, as well as training in quickness and accuracy. They also play no small part in adding circulation and muscular development when carried out with pep and enthusiasm.

Nels Bult, the famous European physical instructor, and all of his athletes are in the United States on an international tour. Their specialty is gymnastic drills and movements of precision and graceful strength for body building and right living. There is no doubt whatever that the school exercises mentioned have this same tendency. They start many children on the right road to careful body building and do much to eliminate awkwardness, timidity and false movements which would handicap children to no small extent in their later life.

The outdoor games of tennis, volleyball, basketball, football and golf, as well as swimming and horseback riding, are fine—for those who can take the time and are fortunate enough to be able to engage in such sports and games. But how about the thousands who are deprived of the pleasure to engage in health-giving games in the open air? Especially is this true of children of the great urban centers and often in towns and villages as well.

The point is this, it is hard for teachers to make this exercise work and play. It is good work, however, and has its results. My own experience in the examination of thousands of public school children for disease and physical conditions, as well as their home environment, has thoroughly convinced me of the real usefulness of these school exercises.

They start right posture and good body training. However, formal or one-two-three in their drill they may be, they have real health value and should be continued.

MEMBERS FOR LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE

A class of 75 new members was inducted into Lowell lodge, 618, Loyal Order of Moose, at its quarters in Odd Fellows hall yesterday afternoon. Past Dictator Edward St. Leger was in charge of the degree work and was assisted by members of the local lodge, District Supervisor Arthur W. Haydn of Boston and Deputy Supreme Dictator William W. Watson of Lynn, were guests of honor and both gave interesting talks on the order and the value of holding memberships therein.

An entertainment program was given under the direction of Frank J. Lambert, lodge pianist, by the following: Honey Day quartet, Howard G. Beane and Arthur H. Hammond, baritone soloists; A. P. Tanguay, Joseph Wicks, Thomas A. Green, Clyde McKilip and George Missian, recitations.

SEE THE POINT!

The Sun has by far the largest circulation of any Lowell paper. Ninety per cent of Sun readers do not read any other Lowell newspaper. See the point, Mr. Advertiser?

MISS CORINNE AND MR. BROWN HONORED

Many remembrances from friends made during their stay here were received by Miss Corinne and Victor Brown at the Lowell Opera House last Saturday night, when they closed their engagement with the stock company here. Miss Corinne received a quantity of floral tributes, it requiring four men to carry them down the aisle for the presentation over the acts at the close of the third act.

The popular little actress left Sunday for Winnipeg, where she will start rehearsals Thursday, opening as leading lady there one week from tonight. Mr. Brown left Sunday for a motor trip to New York and Bridgeport. Miss Mary Rice, known to many theatregoers as Kathleen Keating, accompanied Miss Corinne.

BROADWAY CLUB MEETING

The Broadway Social and Athletic association held an open meeting yesterday afternoon in its quarters in Fletcher street, with President William A. Walsh presiding. There was a large attendance. It was voted to meet again next Sunday at which time a number of important matters will come before the members.

CHILDREN TAKEN FROM BURNING BUILDING

Due mainly to the prompt action of Dr. A. V. Isherwood, who assisted in the rescue work, two infant children were saved from fire which Saturday night destroyed the camp known as "Havenrest," owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dalphid Desrochers, at Belle Grove, Dracut.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

The four local lodges of the Knights of Pythias are making tentative plans for the joint observance next month of the 60th anniversary of the foundation of the order. Samuel H. Hines, representative on the committee while Chevalier-Middlesex lodge, has delegated John A. Lamberton, Elmer D. Robinson and Herbert Pilling, Lowell and Wamsit lodges will probably act on the matter this week. Members of Chevalier-Middlesex lodge will turn out in force for the annual installation of officers next Friday night, to be conducted by Deputy Grand Chancellor E. E. Heald and suite of Lawrence.

PEACE IS IMPOSSIBLE

While World is in Perpetual Economic Conflict, Says Ex-Premier Caillaux

PARIS, Jan. 21.—"How can there be peace in a world which is in a condition of economic conflict?" asked Joseph Caillaux, the former premier, in speaking with an interviewer. "I am not blind and you have only to open your eyes, to perceive that nowhere, not even in Russia, can a reversal of the present matter of sharing the distribution of wealth prevail. Whether you like it or not, we live in an age of capitalism. There is nothing to indicate the possibility of new methods of using wealth which would be productive of progress."

"However one thing is certain: capitalism is including in its scope, which no one would have dreamed of 50 years ago. The way of salvation lies in the direction of a United States of Europe."

INVESTIGATING LEASE OF TEA POT DOME

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The senate committee investigating the lease of the Tea Pot Dome naval oil reserves, was called today to receive the report of Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, who went to Florida to obtain the testimony of Edward B. McLean, publisher of a Washington newspaper, as to the source of the funds used by Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, in developing his New Mexico land holdings.

SIX ARRESTED IN BILLERICA CAMP

As the result of a raid made by Officers Jallbert, J. N. Sullivan and T. J. Sullivan of the state constabulary last Saturday evening upon a camp in the Pinehurst section of Billerica, Ethel Melvath, Mabel White, Gladys Allen, Walter A. Gibbs, James A. Horn and George McCaffrey, all of Woburn, were arraigned in district court this morning on charges of lewdness and pleaded guilty.

Officer Jallbert represented the prosecution and told of his being detailed to watch the camps in the Pinehurst section because of numerous complaints being received of conduct there. He stated that he watched this particular camp all last week and told of breaking into the camp Saturday evening and arrested the defendants.

The six defendants pleaded for leniency but after Officer Jallbert's testimony Judge Enright stated that all should be sentenced to the reformatory because of their actions. He continued the case until Friday to permit the officers to investigate the matter further.

FINED FOR MOTOR LAW VIOLATIONS

In district court today Fred J. Boisvert pleaded guilty to charges of driving a motor vehicle without registration and having attached wrong number plates, and was found guilty on a charge of driving an automobile in a manner to endanger lives.

Officer William Canole of the Dracut police appeared for the prosecution. He testified that on Saturday evening while on duty on the Lawrence boulevard near Belle Grove while the Denosters cottage was on fire a machine driven by Boisvert disregarded his signal to stop but stopped about 20 feet further at the signal of a Dracut fireman. William Julliville of Dracut also testified for the prosecution. Boisvert claimed he did not see Officer Canole because of the smoke.

Judge Enright fined Boisvert $25 on the charge of driving to endanger lives, $25 on the charge of having the wrong plates, and $10 on the charge of driving without registration. He was given until tomorrow morning to pay the fines.

Uneasiness Diminished

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Uneasiness over the Mexican question has diminished considerably in Washington government circles with the assembling of eight warships off Vera Cruz, the rebel capital, under command of Rear Admiral Magruder of the fast cruiser Richmond.

Arrival of the Richmond, it is thought, not only assures the safety of the crew of the stranded cruiser Tacoma and resends untrammelled communication with rebel-controlled territory, but the proximity of the fleet presents a silent and emphatic warning to the revolutionists that their attempt to blockade Tampico must not interfere with American commercial vessels.

Although official silence has been maintained with reference to the blockade, there is every reason to believe that Admiral Magruder has wide discretionary powers. With the cruiser Omaha, six destroyers and the repair ship Prometheus, joining the Richmond from canal zone waters, however, the naval demonstration is regarded as being sufficiently impressive to make unlikely any display of force against an American merchant man.

Federals to Launch Attack

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 21 (by radio via the Pearl Worth Star-Telegram). (By the Associated Press).—The federal troops will attack Esperanza, Puebla, a rebel stronghold on the Vera Cruz front within the next few days. It is believed here is what is expected to be the first decisive battle of the government's offensive.

The federal troops under Gen. Eugenio Merino are continuing their advance toward Esperanza, the first objective in the march on the rebels. The federals now control San Marcos, Puebla, which was occupied by General Martin's troops Saturday.

ERADICATION OF TUBERCULOSIS

Commissioner Says 110,000 School Children Should Be Examined

High Percentage of Juvenile Cases Can Be Cured if Adequately Treated

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Jan. 21.—Declaring that there are in the public schools of Massachusetts approximately 110,000 children who need to be examined and supervised as to their physical condition, lest they become future victims of tuberculosis, and that of this number probably 9000 are children in whom the presence of the dread disease has not even been suspected, Dr. Eugene H. Kelley, state commissioner of public health, today outlined the plans of his department for combating the situation.

So well has the fight against tuberculosis in adults progressed that the department feels justified, according to Dr. Kelley, in devoting its chief activities during the next ten years to eradication of the disease among children. The program calls for an aggregate expenditure of half a million dollars, of which it is desired to expend $50,000 this year.

The figures given by Dr. Kelley in his estimates are based on data obtained in a careful survey of school children in the city of Westfield, where, at the instance of Dr. Henry D. Chadwick, superintendent of the state sanatorium located there, an examination was made of a group of school children falling markedly below the average standards of weight and height, together with a group of children known to have been directly exposed to pulmonary tuberculosis in their homes. "The results were so amazing that further studies were made in 52 other communities, by the field force of physicians and nurses connected with the state department, and by the staffs of other state institutions."

As a result of this thorough survey, the department is convinced that fully 15 per cent of the school children of this state either have juvenile tuberculosis, have been exposed to the disease in their homes, or are in such physical conditions as to render them ready victims should exposure occur.

"I am thoroughly convinced," Dr. Kelley declared today, "that this group of children, if neglected, will furnish the great bulk of our adult consumptives 10 or 15 years hence; on the other hand, I am equally certain that a very high percentage of all these children can be speedily and permanently cured if adequately treated while yet in the glandular stage of the disease."

"This glandular or childhood type of the disease is relatively easy to control. The evidence indicates that the later development of adult pulmonary tuberculosis in these cases can be prevented if the childhood state is recognized and appropriate treatment carried out before the lungs are actually involved."

SICK FLAG FOR THE POLICE DEPARTMENT

The police department was presented a beautiful sick flag this morning by the James A. Garfield Women's Relief Corps, the presentation being made by Patriotic Instructor Grace Townsend, who was accompanied by President Anna Holland, and Past Presidents Nellie Whitney and Laura Colburn.

Patriotic Instructor Townsend, in making presentation spoke as follows: "The ladies of Corps 33, auxiliary of Post 129, G.A.R., take great pleasure in presenting flags wherever they are needed. We are doing one of our pleasant duties and it is our duty to help the Union veteran and his dependents; to care for the sick; to present flag, through our patriotic instructor, Mrs. Townsend, and to always keep before the people the flag we love."

Supt. Atkinson responded for the police department and thanked the women for their generosity.

Careless Shampooing Spoils The Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Multisil coconut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Multisil coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Adv.

Particular Attention to Admissibility of Broadcasting Legislative Proceedings

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Jan. 21.—The attention of legislative committees will be directed tomorrow to several bills of general interest, not the least interesting of which is one providing for the appointment of a special unpaid commission to investigate the subject of radio broadcasting and reception, with particular attention to the desirability of providing that legislative proceedings shall be broadcasted, to enable fans all over the state to follow the work of their senators and representatives more closely. This will be before the committee on mercantile affairs.

For consideration by the committee on legal affairs there will be a bill as novel as any which has found its way into the legislative hopper in recent years. It proposes that Feb. 22 shall be a legal holiday only in the even-numbered years, and that in the alternate odd-numbered years the holiday shall fall on Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday.

The committee on highways and motor vehicles will consider two bills recommended by William P. Williams, state commissioner of public works. One of these proposes that no gasoline tank or similar device may be erected on land adjoining a state highway without the approval of the state department. The other that determin-tion of the horse power of motor vehicles shall be left to the state division of highways, rather than to the registrar of motor vehicles.

Another motor vehicle bill, introduced by a Boston representative, provides that every physician shall display an identifying device or emblem on his car.

Before the committee on education there will be heard a bill, sponsored by Francis H. Rowley of the M.S.P.A., to require instruction in the public schools in the humane treatment of birds and animals.

The committee on legal affairs will also consider a bill giving to each city and town exclusive control over billboards, within out the present provision that their regulations shall be subject to approval by the highway division of the state department of public works.

OFFICES MUST BE MOVED TO SALEM

Mayor John J. Donovan today received a letter from Edmund W. Longley, vice-president of the N. E. Telephone & Telegraph Co., setting forth the reasons why it will be impossible for the company to alter plans for the movement of the Lowell accounting offices to Salem and acknowledging a letter from the mayor in which he expressed a desire to see the accounting rooms remain here.

The gist of the letter is that the company has found quarters in Salem which offer a splendid chance for expansion and at a price so attractive that it could not be overlooked.

Mr. Longley expresses regret that the company is forced to move this part of its business away from Lowell and reiterates what already has been said to the effect that all girls employed in the accounting room here will be given similar positions in Salem if they care to make the change of residence.

The Lowell Memorial Auditorium has a seating capacity of 4000. Imagine the Auditorium filled to capacity 20 times and you will get some idea of the number of people who read The Sun daily, and 50 per cent of the 80,000 readers of The Sun take no other Lowell newspaper.

She gets relief from DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN And so do the children

Some Families Are Never Ill

FORTUNATE are the children whose parents fully realize the seriousness of constipation. Hospital records prove that 75 per cent of all disease originates in bowel obstruction, or constipation. Young children cry because of it; school children are lamed in their studies; grown people are made 25 per cent less efficient; elderly people's blood pressure increases 28 per cent. Realizing this Mrs. Carrie Moss of 1714 Church St., Lynchburg Va., Mr. Louis C. Grall of 1569 Winton Ave., Lakewood, Ohio, and innumerable others, give a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at the first sign of constipation, and have no sickness among their children.

Largest Selling Laxative

Every up-to-date family medicine chest should contain a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and palatable aromatics, a prescription written 30 years ago by Dr. W. B. Caldwell, who practiced medicine 47 years. You can buy a bottle in any store where medicines are sold, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. We guarantee that if you will give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to a child or for a few nights to an adult it will relieve any case of constipation no matter how chronic, or your money will be refunded.

10 Million Bottles a Year

Use it once and you will never again take coal-tar drugs in candy form, colomel or salts. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a vegetable laxative free from opiates and narcotics. It can be safely given to infants, yet it effectively moves the bowels of adults. It acts gently; does not cramp or gripe. Keep it in the house and use it for any indication of bowel obstruction such as constipation, biliousness, torpid liver, dyspepsia, pimples and like skin eruptions. Give it early and it will break up a fever or a cold overnight. A spoonful proves it.

Send me a free trial bottle to a family. I need a good laxative and would like to prove what you say about Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin by actual test. Send me a free trial bottle. Address to Name..... Address..... Not more than one free trial bottle to a family.

TODAY'S CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT

A suspended sentence to the state farm was revoked and Thomas P. Lynch ordered committed on his 30th offense for drunkenness.

A continuance to Jan. 29 was granted David D. Smith on a charge of violation of the fish laws.

A charge of two counts of non-support against Elmore G. Crowell was sustained by the court and a suspended sentence of three months in the house of correction was revoked and he was ordered committed.

Every House Piped for Gas

Houses on Gertrude Avenue Erected by J. A. Lequin. Gas Outlet in Every Room.

A new order of things is taking place in Lowell. During the past six months, people have come to realize the absolute necessity of Gas in the modern home.

A plan put into effect by this company, giving special inducement to those people far sighted enough to plan for a gas outlet in every room, has met with remarkable success.

More than fifty houses are now piped fully for Gas, with from four to eight outlets, depending upon the size of the house.

The illustration in this advertisement shows Gertrude Avenue, where

J. A. Lequin

One of the Most Progressive of Lowell's Contractors has erected a number of houses of the most modern type. Each of these houses has a gas outlet in every room. According to the statement of Mr. Lequin, this feature gave them a very ready sale.

A Number of Other Contractors in Lowell Have Also Adopted This Plan of Gas Piping in New Houses

The future has great things in store for Gas as it applies to heat and light. More and more it will assume a position of leadership in homes as time goes on.

Gas for lighting and cooking has been with us for a great many years and is ever gaining in popularity.

Gas for house heating is just beginning. In the coming years, rapid strides will be made in this respect until Gas will supplant other kinds of fuel used for house heating purposes.

If you are building a new house, we will be pleased to have our representative talk this matter over with you. The charge made for placing a Gas outlet in each room in a new house under construction is $15, an amount below the cost of the service.

HIGH SCHOOL TRACK TEAM BEATS ALUMNI IN FIRST MEET

Capacity Crowd Sees Plenty of Action as This Year's Team Noses Out Strong Graduate Aggregation by Score of 40½ to 36½

This year's Lowell high school track team in its first meet of the season Saturday night defeated a strong Alumni team by the score of 40½ to 36½, and in so doing gave promise of a well balanced aggregation for the dual meet campaign which is just ahead.

The meet was run off before a capacity crowd and at the starting time of 7:30 p. m. although many were waiting to get into the annex, the ticket sale was stopped for lack of further accommodations. Even standing room was at a premium.

No closer or better fought meet will be seen this season, with first one team and then the other having a shade the better of the battles. Three times during the meet the score was deadlocked and at no time was either team more than a scant point to the good. Just before the relay, the high school team was in the lead by four points, but when the four-man event they picked up the five points necessary for victory, the relay fell and there was no doubt who would win thereafter.

With victories to his credit in the dash and hurdles, Capt. Dan Daley of the high school team was the meet's outstanding star and proved himself a capable leader. He hit 2 4-5 seconds twice in the dash and won the hurdles in a winning dash from Brock Darling in 4 1-2 seconds.

The Alumni, headed by Anderson's captain this year, was the star, winning the running high jump with a leap of 5 feet 10 inches, and taking second place in the hurdles. Flynn won the 1000-yard run, and T. Sheehan of last year's team led the Latham twins to the victory in the six-hundred.

The semi-final heats in the dash brought Daley of high school and Sweeney, "Speed" Mansur, and McCreath of the Alumni before. Finch McCreath's gun in the dash, but his winning margin was wholly sufficient, with Sweeney and Mansur finishing two-thirds.

Although Flynn's victory in the 1000 yards was well earned, the running of Pearson for high school stood out notably. This boy is a 600-yarder.

YOUNG'S PITCHING FEATS SUPREME

CY YOUNG

Do not warm up in a haphazard fashion. Work for control, just as if you were pitching to some batter and knew his weakness.

It is an excellent idea to always have either a regular home plate or the cap or glove of the catcher as a substitute for same when warming up.

Make it a point to see that you always in your preliminary pitching at the proper distance. In the major leagues this feature is attended to. The proper distance should be marked off for the amateurs.

Do not waste time experimenting with freak deliveries. Usually they are very hard on the arm, difficult to control and often throw a pitcher off his stride.

Speed, curves and a change of pace are the three necessary assets of a successful pitcher. Some have more speed than others. However, of all, control is by far more essential.

No matter how much stuff you may have on the ball it avails you nothing if you are not able to get it over. Bases on balls are invariably costly. It seems as if they always result in runs being scored.

Don't fuss with your team-mates when they make an error. None feels worse about a mistake than the man who makes it. Criticism from the pitcher simply tends to further upset him.

Give your best efforts at all times, regardless of the score or the situation. It is better to be given you. Baseball is the most uncertain game in the world; it's the fellow who keeps plugging that reaps the reward.

Study your position carefully. A study of batsmen have a weak spot, a certain style ball that bothers them. Feed them that ball at the weak spot.

Work with your catcher. He knows as much about the batters as you do. Exchange views with him prior and during the game as to what is best to pitch, particularly in the ninth.

Don't argue with the umpire. He is calling them as he sees them and usually does a pretty good job. A pitcher who also tries to umpire makes his job doubly tough.

"BOB" HART SIGNS UP FIGHT REFEREE SHOT DOWN

"Bob" Hart has signed up for another season as a member of the National League umpire staff. Annually, President Heydler sends out contracts to the men to be retained on the staff.

"Davey" Miller Shot and Probably Fatally Wounded While Leaving Theatre

His Decision in Leonard-Mitchell Bout Precipitated Riot in Chicago May 30

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—"Davey" Miller, restaurateur and wrestling and boxing referee, was shot and probably fatally wounded late last night as he left a theatre with his three brothers, one of whom, Max, was shot and slightly wounded.

The assassin, who was not identified, escaped as the theatre crowd milled about the men as they lay on the sidewalk. "Davey" Miller was rushed to a hospital and an operation was ordered immediately. He was shot in the abdomen.

"Davey" referred to the Benny Leonard-Pinky Mitchell contest at Dexter Pavilion here last May 30, giving the decision to Leonard, and it was the decision to Leonard which precipitated a riot which soured the deathblow of Chicago boxing.

At the detective bureau, Sergeant Ryan telephoned Michael Hughes, chief of detectives, that, in his opinion, the shooting was traceable to the Leonard-Mitchell fight.

"I carried Pinky Mitchell to his corner after he had declared Leonard the winner, Ritchie Mitchell, brother of the Milwaukee boxer, struck him with a note, and the ring immediately was filled with fighting groups of men. A score or more lights broke out all over the New Theatre."

It was the contention of the Milwaukee boxers and their supporters, that Leonard had fouled Mitchell by striking him while Mitchell still was on one knee.

Sailor Friedman, Chicago boxer, recently was kidnapped and seriously beaten at a hotel where he was training for a contest, and it is said that other Chicago boxers have been fighting shy of Milwaukee since.

"We were in the theatre," said Max Miller, "and when we came out, I was about to call a cab when I heard two men call 'Oh Davey, we want you to talk to them, and I saw them try to hit Davey. He pushed it so far back that it came near the man's back neck. Then he made two shots, one of which wounded me."

The result of the game a week ago was so close that the supporters of both sides had good reason to express confidence in the outcome. When 15 teams battle 45 minutes to a 17 to 16 score there is little difference between them. They are evenly matched and in such a case luck will undoubtedly play an important part in the ultimate outcome.

The opening game found each team scoring the same number of baskets from the floor. The game advanced for the instance because of the greater number of fouls called on the Cadets.

In a preliminary to tomorrow night's big game, the St. Paul Cadets will line up against the Indian Seconds. This game is creating considerable interest as both teams have strong lineups and have been going at a speedy clip all season. This game will start at 7:30 p. m. and the game scheduled to get underway at 8:15.

The following was received from Battery B this morning:

Battery B basketball team has played 12 games this year and has won 10. To date they have played some of the best teams in this city and have been successful in many of them.

As manager of the battery team, I would like to arrange some games with the following teams for the city championship.

The Battery Indians, Y.M.C.A., C.Y. Club, and St. Paul Cadets. The games are to be held in some local hall, as we are not allowed to play these teams in the armory.

Would be glad to meet the managers of the named teams and confer on details.

To date the battery has played the following teams:

Duxbury 2, Battery 28.
Co. B, 12nd 2, Battery 20.
Indian Seconds 6, Battery 51.

TODAY'S BIG NEWS

Now
12¢

That favorite pocket tin of fresh Tuxedo tobacco which has cost you fifteen cents or more for the last five years, is yours for just twelve (12) cents from now on!

Just two things have made it possible for us to give you this 20% reduction on Tuxedo:

1. A reduction in the cost of Kentucky Burley tobacco and in package materials, as well.
2. The consolidation of three of our big plants into one. (Mr. Ford may not be in the tobacco business but he is right about consolidation.)

This gives us a chance to pass an advantage along to all our friends; to share a good thing.

We haven't lost any time in taking advantage of this opportunity.

You know that it is the desire and policy of The American Tobacco Co. to extend to its customers the maximum of service.

Reducing the price of a great favorite like Tuxedo—the moment it's possible—is our idea of delivering this service.

So now you're getting the familiar tin of Tuxedo tobacco at 12 cents instead of 15 cents.

Tuxedo is always FRESH. Every package is—
